General Information

Johnson C. Smith University is a co-educational institution operated under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. It was founded and is operated on the principles of Christian faith for education for the ministry, teaching, and other walks of life. Broad general education for LIFE and thorough specialization for SERVICE, undergirded by CHRISTIAN VALUES, form the basic objectives of the curricula and activities of the University.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE INSTITUTION

The Institution seeks to accomplish the following aims and objectives:

1. To help the student achieve Christian character.
2. To promote the health of the student.
3. To prepare the student for effective leadership in the important pursuits of life in church and state.
4. To stimulate an intellectual desire for truth.
5. To create a desire for the highest degree of efficiency in the profession chosen as his life's work.
6. To prepare the student for later professional work, such as, medicine, law, teaching, and other specialized vocations.
7. To create in the student a desire for lay leadership within the Church.
8. To prepare students for the Gospel Ministry.

ORGANIZATION

The University is composed of a College of Liberal Arts, which confers the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science respectively; and the School of Theology which confers the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

HISTORY

In 1867 Reverend S. C. Alexander and Reverend W. G. Miller saw the need of establishing an institution in this section of the South and began devising such plans as would secure the desired results. On April 7, 1867, at a meeting of the Catawba Presbytery in the old Charlotte Presbyterian Church, formerly located at the corner of D and Fourth Streets, Charlotte, North Carolina, the movement for the school was formally inaugurated and the Reverend Messrs. S. C. Alexander and W. G. Miller were elected as teachers.

Information concerning the establishment of the school was brought to the attention of Mrs. Mary D. Biddle, an excellent Christian woman of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, who through appeals on behalf of the work in one of the Church papers pledged $1,400. In appreciation for this first and generous contribution, friends of the project requested of Mrs. Biddle the privilege of naming the newly established school after her late husband, Major Henry Biddle. The request being granted, the school was named "The Biddle Memorial Institute" and later was chartered by the State Legislature under that name. The first eight acres of land used as the site for the school were donated by Colonel W. R. Myers, a wealthy citizen of Charlotte, North Carolina. From 1867 to 1876 the school was known as the Biddle Memorial Institute. In 1877 the charter was changed by the Legislature of North Carolina and the name of the school became Biddle University. The institution operated under this name until 1923.

During the season of 1921-22 the late Mrs. Jane Berry Smith, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, gave funds for the erection of a Theological Dormitory, a Science Hall, a Teacher's Cottage, and a Memorial Gate at Biddle University. In addition she made provision for a handsome endowment for the institution in memory of her late husband, Mr. Johnson C. Smith. In recognition of these generous benefactions the Board of Trustees voted to change the name of the institution to Johnson C. Smith University. The charter of the school accordingly was so amended, March 1, 1923, by the Legislature of the State of North Carolina. From 1923 until her death in October, 1929, Mrs. Smith gave funds for the erection of five more buildings, including a church.

In 1925 the gifts of Mrs. Jane Berry Smith were augmented by a gift from the late Mr. James B. Duke, of Charlotte, North Carolina.

In 1932 the institution was made co-educational by an amendment to the charter, and until 1941 women were admitted to the Senior College division only. However, beginning with the school year 1941-1942 women were admitted to the freshman class.

The present site contains seventy-five acres of land and twenty-two buildings.

The institution is operated under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

ACADEMIC RATING

In 1933 Johnson C. Smith University was accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as a Class A College. The Institution is a member of the Association of American Colleges; American Council on Education; American Medical Association; American Association of Theological Schools; Council on Theological Education of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A.; and the Presbyterian College Union.

LOCATION

Johnson C. Smith University is located in the city of Charlotte, Mecklenburg County, North Carolina. The campus is situated at the western end of the city and may be reached by street bus or taxi from the railroad or bus station. Charlotte stands at the radiating point of seven railroads and may also be reached by bus. Excellent highways connecting with the through routes make Charlotte easily accessible to automobile travel.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Biddle Memorial Hall can be seen from almost any section of the city. It is four stories in height, with a tower in which is a chime clock. It is the main building on the campus, and contains recitation and lecture rooms together with the administrative offices of the University.

JOHNSON C. SMITH MEMORIAL THEOLOGICAL DORMITORY, which stands on the eastern side of the campus, supplies rooms for about eighty students. It was named for the late Mr. Johnson C. Smith of Pittsburgh, Pa.

BERRY HALL, a dormitory for college men, stands at the northern end of the campus. It is three stories in height above a basement story. It has a reception parlor and houses about one hundred students. This dormitory was given in memory of the late Mrs. Smith's parents.

CARTER HALL, a dormitory for college students, is situated at the northeastern end of the University Quadrangle. It is, perhaps, one of the most substantial buildings on the campus, has a large reception parlor, and houses about one hundred and fifty students. This building is the gift of Miss Laura Carter of Geneva, New York. It contains a well equipped infirmary.

THE JAMES B. DUKE MEMORIAL HALL is the first dormitory to be constructed on the campus for the housing of women students. It is located across the highway from the main campus at the southwest end of the University campus. The building is Georgian in style with exterior wall of brick and limestone trim. It is three stories high above the basement with an elevator shaft. In addition to ideal living quarters for approximately 110 students, it provides directors' quarters, guest room, reception room, social hall, director's office, beauty parlor, an infirmary, laundry and trunk room.

THE SCIENCE HALL is situated at the southern end of the University campus; it is two stories high with a basement story. It is fully equipped, and contains lecture rooms as well as rooms for experimental work in Chemistry, Biology, and Physics.

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY contains approximately 23,000 volumes, and this number is being rapidly increased both by purchase and by gifts of generous friends. In the spacious reading-room there are a large number of up-to-date reference works, newspapers and periodicals.

In addition to the large reading room, this library affords space for a store-room, and office or work-room, and a large assembly room.

The Theological Library contains approximately 2,000 volumes, and this number is being increased daily. This library is equipped with the most modern furnishings, and has a private study-room for individual research.

The Johnson C. Smith University Church, located near the entrance to the campus, is a gift of the late Mrs. Jane Berry Smith. This structure, built of colonial brick with limestone trimming, has a front supported by limestone columns. The structure is one of the most beautiful of its kind to be found at any college in America.

The Refectory is situated at the northern end of the University and has a seating capacity of about four hundred.

The Hartley Woods Gymnasium, a gift of the late Mrs. Jane Berry Smith, is situated at the northern end of the University Quadrangle. It is a two-story brick building with a 100-foot frontage. The first floor contains the office of the Physical Director, physical examination rooms, the gymnasium proper, and a dormitory room for the housing of visiting athletic teams. The second floor or gallery floor contains the running track—twenty-two laps to the mile—and seating space for spectators at basketball games. The basement floor contains the locker rooms, the showers, wrestling and boxing room, and a storeroom.

The size of the gymnasium is 101x52. It has a court for indoor tennis, baseball, volley ball, hand ball and basketball. It is furnished with equipment for work in physical education activities.

The University Press is a modern printing plant. The equipment includes a model 14 linotype machine, S. K., a job press, a two-revolution Miehle Cylinder press, Cleveland "B" folder, paper cutting machine, No. 2 Boston Wire Stitcher, Cost-Cutter bench saw, an excellent assortment of hand type and other printing equipment.

PUBLICATIONS

The Quarterly Review of Higher Education Among Negroes, edited with the co-operation of the faculty.

The Johnson C. Smith University Bulletin, including Catalogue Issue, Bulletin, Student Manual, and the University Record.

The University Student, a college paper published monthly during the school year by the students.

College of Liberal Arts

Purpose

The College of Liberal Arts seeks to accomplish the following purposes:

1. To provide a general education for all students in order to prepare them to be useful citizens.
2. To provide preliminary training for the various professions such as medicine, dentistry, law, theology, teaching, etc.
3. To prepare teachers for elementary and secondary schools and lay readers for the Church.
4. To promote the mental and physical health of all the students.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR

The college year consists of a regular session of two semesters and a summer session of twelve weeks. Two semesters or five summer sessions of six weeks each constitute the equivalent of one year of college work. The regular session for 1946-1947 will begin Wednesday, September 18, 1946, and end Monday, June 2, 1947. Freshman activities will begin on Thursday. September 12, 1946. See calendar page 5.

ADMISSION REGULATIONS

New Students

Admission to Johnson C. Smith University is on a selective basis. Priority of application will not be considered a basis for admission. Applicants will be chosen from the first or second quarter of the graduating class. Candidates will be selected from the entire list of applicants for the year on the basis of their preparation for college, their ability and their interest in the program offered by Johnson C. Smith University.

Every candidate for admission must make formal application to the Registrar, Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte 2, N. C., by sending in an application blank accompanied by a deposit of five dollars in the form of a check or money order made payable to Johnson C. Smith University. This deposit is not refunded if the applicant withdraws his name from the list. If the applicant's name is removed by the Admissions Committee for failure to meet entrance requirements, the deposit will be refunded.

Applicants desiring to enter in September must submit their applications not later than July first. Applicants who have been accepted will be notified by July 15th. It will be to the advantage of the applicant to submit his application as soon as possible. Ordinarily applicants for admission in September cannot be accepted after July first. Applieants who cannot be accommodated in September are advised to make application for the Spring semester not later than November first, if they desire to remain candidates for admission at the beginning of the Spring semester.

Foreign Students

Students who come from the British Possessions will be admitted without condition to the College of Liberal Arts on the basis of their Cambridge School Certificate and a transcript of their high school record. Students who come from other foreign countries must show to the satisfaction of the University that they meet requirements for admission to the College of Liberal Arts.

METHODS OF ADMISSION

There are three methods of admission to the freshman class.

1. Admission by certificate from accredited high schools.
2. Admission by examinations conducted by the University.
3. Admission by examinations conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board. (For information concerning this method write the Registrar).

All students, irrespective of the method by which admission is sought, must present for admission a report covering his entire record of subjects taken and grades received in high school. This record must come through the Principal of his high school and must be sent direct to the Registrar of the University before the student enters. The record should be accompanied by a statement from the Principal concerning the student's character, scholarly interests and abilities.

Admission by certificate may be accepted if the record of the applicant is presented from a high school accredited by a state or regional association. New students entering the freshman class by certificate from high schools approved by a state or regional association must rank in the first or second quarter of their graduating class.

New students seeking admission to the freshman class from high schools not accredited by a state or regional association, may be admitted to the freshman class upon examination in all subjects offered for admission, provided they present fifteen acceptable units. Such applicants must rank in the first or second quarter of their graduating class. Before taking any examination conducted by the University, applicants must make written application to the Registrar upon blanks provided for that purpose, and must secure a card admitting him to the examination. This may be done by correspondence, but the application must be received not later than one week before the date of the examination.

All transcripts of high school records must be presented before the student comes to the University and in no case should a student come to the University unless he has been so notified.

Admission Units

Applicants for admission to the freshman class must present fifteen units of secondary work, including the seven units listed below under "Subjects and Units accepted for Admission." Students are not accepted in the freshman class with conditions.

A unit in any subject represents the study of one full year in high school, and constitutes about one quarter of a full year's work. The four year high school course is taken as a basis for admission and the length of the school year is assumed to be from thirty six to forty weeks, a period from forty to sixty minutes in length, and a study pursued for about four or five periods a week.

Subjects And Units Accepted for Admission

No subjects will be accepted for admission to college that are not counted for graduation by the high school. Duplication of high school and college credits is not permitted. Courses credited for admission cannot be repeated in the college toward graduation. The following seven units are required of all students:

English (four year's work)	3	5 units
*Algebra	1
*Geometry	1
History	2	2 units
or
or
Foreign Language	2

NOTE: A student must complete at least two years of study in a foreign language in order to secure credit towards college entrance.

*An applicant may be admitted without elementary algebra and plane geometry provided that he presents fifteen acceptable units of high school work, that he removes the deficiency during his freshman year and that he is a graduate of an accredited high school.

The remaining eight units may be chosen from the following groups:

A

Algebra	1 to 2 units

The maximum units accepted in each of the above groups are as follows: Group A, 4 units, Group B, 8 units, Group C, 4 units, Group D, 5 units, Group E, 3 units.

Admission With Advanced Standing

Applicants for admission with advanced standing should have transcripts of credits from all colleges previously attended sent direct to the Registrar of the University. Applicants will be allowed credit for such professional credit as falls within the fields of specialization offered in Johnson C. Smith University according to the amount and quality of this work. Applicants must also present transcripts of their high school records. Applicants transferring to Johnson C. Smith University from colleges approved by a regional association will be admitted with advanced standing provided that they have maintained a general average of C in courses that are equivalent to those given at Johnson C. Smith University. Applicants for admission with advanced standing from colleges not approved by a regional association may be accepted on probation only and are subject to the above regulations. Students accepted on probation who do not maintain satisfactory work will be dropped and will not be allowed to re-register at Johnson C. Smith University.

Students applying to Johnson C. Smith University for admission with advanced standing whose record shows that they are either on probation or dropped for poor scholarship or dropped for some other cause will not be admitted.

Admission of Unclassified Students

Persons of mature age and of good character may enter the University for the purpose of taking courses without becoming candidates for a degree. Such persons will be listed as unclassified students. They must prove to their Instructors their ability to pursue successfully the courses for which they have registered. These students are subject to the same rules and regulations as regular students.

Fees and Expenses

All bills for the year are due and payable on the dates listed in the schedule on page 27. Remittance, if not made in person at the business office, should be mailed and the envelope addressed as follows:

Business Manager
Johnson C. Smith University
Charlotte 2, North Carolina

Payment, if not made in cash, must be made by postal money order, cashier's or certified check, payable only to the order of Johnson C. Smith University. No part of a payment made to the University will be given in change or handed to the student except by written request of the person sending the payment. Students should have sufficient funds to pay all entrance fees at the time of registration.

To the above items must be added the cost of clothing, laundry, travel and personal spending money which will vary with the individual student. Textbooks are required and must be paid for at the time of purchase. A Textbook Deposit with the business office for purchases of textbooks and supplies from the University Bookstore will insure obtaining textbooks promptly.

A student entering the spring semester will pay approximately half of the above estimate for one year.

*Deduct from this amount any deposit made.

The board charge of $25.00 a school month of four weeks, payable monthly in advance, for the Winter and Spring semesters, includes board, furnished room, light, heat, and laundry of bed linen. Personal laundry other than bed linen is the student's personal responsibility.

The board charge of $50.00 for each six weeks' session in the Summer Session, payable in advance at the beginning of each session, includes board, furnished room, light and laundry of bed linen furnished by the student.

Boarding students are not received for less than one month and no deduction for absence can be made unless ordered by the Business Manager. There is an additional charge for students who desire to remain in the dormitories during the Christmas holidays.

A deposit of fifty cents ($0.50) to insure care and the safe return of the dormitory room key is required. This key deposit may be mailed to the business office before the student arrives to aid in the assignment of rooms, but it must be paid not later than the arrival date. Returning former students may have their rooms reserved by sending to the Business Manager a money order, cash, or certified check for $10.00 not later than June 15. Reservations may be cancelled any time up to September first. Students who do not notify the University on or before September first of their inability to enter Johnson C. Smith University forfeit their deposit. Room reservations will be cancelled for students who fail to register during the official registration period. Reservations will be made in the order received and approved by the dormitory authorities.

Each boarding student possessing a radio is required to register his or her instrument with the Dean of Men for men students and with the Dean of Women for women students. The fee for use of radios is $2.00 for each semester, payable at the beginning of each semester. The University reserves the right to inspect any radio to determine whether or not it meets with electrical requirements.

REFUND OF FEES

When a student has been duly registered and accepted in the University, it is considered a formal and explicit contract for the year. Should a student withdraw from the University at any time after registration, no refund of fees will be granted at all except in cases where the student withdraws because of a call to military service or on account of personal illness, in which case a certificate from the College Physician will be required. For withdrawals due to military service refunds will be based on the University's policy announced and in effect at the time. For withdrawals due to illness refunds will be made at the rate of 75 per cent for the first 15 days and not exceeding 50 per cent for the second 15 days after registration. No deductions for any cause will be allowed to students who withdraw during the last four weeks of a semester.

INDEBTEDNESS TO UNIVERSITY

Under University regulations, students remaining in arrears to the institution for more than ten days are subject to suspension from all student privileges.

Students with unpaid bills will not be admitted to the semester's final examinations. No student will be permitted to register or to make a dormitory room reservation for any semester until all bills of the previous semester have been paid in full. Failure of students to meet financial obligations at the scheduled time causes forfeitures of privileges of the boarding department and of classroom facilities.

No student who is indebted to the University will be permitted to join a social fraternity or sorority.

No student may obtain a transcript of his or her record for any purpose if indebted to the University.

UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS

The University offers to undergraduate students tuition scholarships and student aid, both under the supervision of the Committee on Scholarships and Student Aid. A limited number of tuition scholarships to the value of $90.00 an academic year are available to new students with exceptional scholastic records. Such students must be recommended by their high school principals. Tuition scholarships granted to students will be discontinued if the recipient fails to maintain an average of 'B' or better during the time of the scholarship.

The University offers a small number of places for students to earn, in some measure, their way in college. Most of these positions, however, are engaged beforehand by those who have already attended the University.

Candidates for the ministry who enter college receive such aid as their necessities demand and resources at command will allow. Such students upon entering the School of Theology have their tuition remitted.

Friends in Scotland have established a fund of six thousand dollars, the interest of which is to be used to aid young men in preparing for mission work in Africa. Should any beneficiary of these funds marry before completing his course of study, thereupon his aid will be forfeited.

REGISTRATION

Time. All students must register at the beginning of each semester whether they were in residence the preceding semester or not. Students are required to register in person at the University on the days designated for such purpose, between 8:00 o'clock in the morning and 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon.*

All new students will report for registration as follows: Summer session, Monday, June 3, 1946; Winter semester, Thursday, September 12, 1946 and Spring semester, Wednesday, January 29th, 1947. Former students will report for registration on Wednesday, September 18, 1946.

Late Registration. Students may be allowed late registration upon the payment of a late fee of five dollars, but no student will be permitted to register later than the time specified in the calendar*. Complete registration includes physical examination and the satisfying of academic requirements.

Freshman Week. The first week of the school year is devoted especially to the adjustment of freshman students to their new surroundings. The program includes registration, orientation, lectures, tests for placement, diagnosis and guidance, training in the use of the Library, definite information on the various regulations on the campus, and the freshman reception.

Changes in Registration. Changes in registration must be made through the Registrar's office on blanks provided for that purpose. For any such changes the student must obtain the permission of the Dean and instructors concerned.

No student will be allowed to make a change in his schedule of courses during a semester and after the expiration of the time allowed, without the written consent of the Dean and the instructors concerned. No student will be allowed to change his program of studies after the end of the time specified in the calendar unless such change is unavoidable or is necessitated by a change in the University schedule. A course once registered for may not be dropped without permission of the Dean and instructors concerned. A course dropped without permission is considered as a failure and is so recorded.

Excess Hours. No student will receive credit for a course for which he has not regularly registered, and in no case will credit be given for excess hours.

Student Load. (a) A normal load for a student in the College of Arts is sixteen (16) semester hours. In the summer session the normal load is six (6) semester hours.

(b) Only students who have at least a general average of "B" will be permitted to carry excess hours, and in no case will a student be permitted to carry in a semester more than nineteen (19) semester hours of work.

(c) Only students who have been carrying a normal load of work (sixteen hours) in the previous semester will be permitted to carry any excess hours.

The maximum amount of credit allowed for one semester is nineteen (19) semester hours, and for summer sessions (2) is sixteen.

GRADES

The quality of a student's work in a course shall be reported to the Registrar by the following grades: A, B, C, D, P, F, and I. A denotes excellent scholarship; B, good; C, fair; D, poor. Work reported as of grade D cannot be raised to a higher grade by examination. F indicates failure; a student receiving such a grade must repeat the course. P is the passing grade assigned to all courses for which no credit is allowed.

Incomplete Grades. The grade I indicates that the work was incomplete because of failure to take final examination, or to complete a term paper or note book. This grade must be removed within six weeks after the beginning of the semester in which the student is enrolled. When the grade of I has been removed the Instructor shall at once report the final grade to the Registrar's office on blanks provided for that purpose. If the grade of I is not removed in the time specified the student will receive the grade of F for the course.

Grade for Major Work. No grade below C will count for credit in the student's major work. Nor will a student be permitted to enroll for Practice Teaching unless he earns a grade of C or better in the course he is to teach.

Grade Points. Grade points are determined by multiplying the number of semester hours which a course yields by the grade point value of the grade. The several grades yield grade points as follows: A, 3 points for each semester hour of credit; B, 2; C, 1; D, 0; P, 0; F, 0.

THE DEAN'S HONOR ROLL

At the end of either semester, all students who have earned a grade point average of 2.0 or better will be placed on the honor roll. Only students who are registered for a minimum of 15 semester hours will be considered for the honor roll. Students on the honor roll may carry a maximum of nineteen semester hours with the consent of the Dean of the College.

PRIZES

The Alumni Prize is a gold medal offered to a member of the junior class by the Alumni Association for excellence in oratory.

The Pan Hellenic Council offers a gold medal to the student in the College of Liberal Arts considered to be the best all round student. This prize is awarded on the basis of character, scholarship, and participation in extra curricular activities.

ATTENDANCE

Class Attendance. Regular and punctual attendance on class recitations is required of all students. Absences must be explained to the Dean of the College. Absence from all classes will be counted from the first day of class recitation. All absences excused or unexcused shall be made up to the satisfaction of the department concerned.

Withdrawal. Any student desiring to withdraw from the University during a semester must first secure two statements from the Dean of the College. One of these statements should be filed in the Office of the Registrar. The other statement when presented at the office of the Business Manager will entitle the student to any refund of fees to which he may be entitled.

Students not complying with this regulation may not be granted an honorable dismissal.

Probation, Disqualification and Dismissal for Poor Scholarship

1. Any student in the College of Liberal Arts who fails to maintain a grade point average of 0.5 for all work carried during any semester will be placed on probation at the end of that semester. In the following semester such a student may not register for more than 12 semester hours of work. In order to be removed from probation, a student must earn a grade point of 1.0 or better in all of the work for which he is registered.

2. A student on probation who fails to meet the above requirements will be dropped and may not return until after one semester has passed.

3. A student who removes his first probation and incurs probation twice thereafter shall be dropped permanently.

4. A student who has been dropped for poor scholarship may be re-admitted under certain conditions. Each case will be considered individually by the Committee on Admissions. The decision of the Committee is subject to Faculty approval.

5. A student admitted after being dropped for poor scholarship will be admitted on probation, and must maintain a grade point average of 1.0. Failing in this, he will be dropped permanently.

6. A student on probation is ineligible to hold any elective office or to represent the Institution in any capacity, except when meeting the academic requirements of a regularly scheduled course. In order to insure the proper observance of this regulation, names of all students proposed for elective offices or for representation in extra curricular activities must be submitted to the Dean of the College for approval.

EXAMINATIONS

Examinations are held at the close of each semester. These examinations are required of all students. Any student who does not present himself for examination at the hour appointed forfeits his right to take that examination and will be considered as having failed, unless he has been excused for reasons deemed sufficient by the faculty.

Special examinations are given only to students who for adequate reasons have not been able to be present at the regular examinations. The privilege of special examination is granted by the Dean on recommendation of the instructor.

CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS

Students in the College are grouped into four classes according to the records in the Registrar's office. The basis for this classification is as follows:

Seniors—Students who have credit for at least ninety-six semester hours of work, have earned at least ninety-six quality points, and have completed all the prescribed courses.

Juniors—Students who have to their credit at least sixty-four semester hours of work, have earned at least sixty-four quality points, and have completed courses prescribed for the Junior College Division with an average of C or better.

Sophomores—Students who have credit for at least thirty-two semester hours of work and have earned at least thirty-two quality points.

Freshmen—All other students, not registered special, are ranked as Freshmen, without regard to date of admission.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

General. A candidate for the Bachelor's degree must present at least 128 semester hours and 128 quality points. He must have made a general average of "C" or more in all of his work. He must fulfill to the satisfaction of the faculty all the requirements of the curricula of the Junior and Senior College Divisions, with an average of C or better in his major or majors. He must have been a student in the College during his Senior year and have completed in residence at least 32 of the 128 semester hours required for the degree.

Two semesters or five summer sessions of six weeks each, with a normal student load, constitute one year of residence.

Physical Education Requirement. In order to fulfill the requirements for the S.B. and A.B. degrees, respectively, all Freshmen and Sophomores will be required to attend courses in Physical Education. Those who are designated by the college physician as possessing organic and orthopedic defects will be assigned to special classes by the instructor in charge.

Foreign Language Requirement. Two years in one foreign language are required for graduation. The exception to this however will be that two years of a foreign language in high school will be the equivalent of one year of college language provided the student successfully passes the language entrance test. In that case he will be permitted to take foreign language 231, 232. If a student presents three or four years of a foreign language for entrance he may take an examination and meet the foreign language requirement for graduation. All students who present foreign language for entrance must take the placement examination in that language.

Proficiency English Test Requirement. In addition to the above requirements, each student must pass a proficiency test administered by the Department of English. This test will be administered in the Spring semester of the Junior Year and will be administered first in the Spring of 1948. All Juniors are required to take this test. Non-proficient Juniors will be given subsequent opportunities to take the test at regularly scheduled periods.

DEGREES

The College of Liberal Arts administers four years of work leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Art and Bachelor of Science respectively. The Bachelor of Science degree will be conferred on students with majors in any one of the following: Biology, Chemistry, Physics, or Mathematics. All others will receive the Bachelor of Arts Degree.

Degrees With Honors

To be graduated CUM LAUDE—A student must have spent at least two years in residence at the College and have earned an average of 2.00 to 2.49.

To be graduated MAGNA CUM LAUDE—A student must have spent three years in residence at the College and have earned an average of 2.5 to 2.69, and no grade must be below "C".

To be graduated SUMMA CUM LAUDE—A student must have spent at least three years in residence at the College and have earned an average of 2.7 to 3, and no grade must be below "C".

PROGRAM OF STUDY

Freshman Year

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are required to take placement examinations and other tests at the beginning of Freshman Week. These tests consist of a psychological test, and tests in Foreign Language, Mathematics, and English, designed for the purpose of placement and guidance. Students who are deficient as a result of these tests are assigned to sub-freshman courses.

The main purpose of the freshman year is to enable each student to acquire a broad substantial foundation in the major fields of knowledge. It is hoped that during this year the student will be able to discover his intellectual interests, or re-affirm a choice made earlier.

Freshmen are assigned to Instructors as Advisors who meet regularly for the purpose of discussing problems which confront freshman students. Students should consult their Advisors freely and regularly on both scholastic and personal problems.

During the freshman year a student's program consists of the following prescribed courses, except in the cases of pre-medical and pre-dental students and students who elect majors in Science or Physical Education:

	S. Hrs.
Survey of Biological Science, 131a, 131b	3
Survey of Physical Science, 131,a, 131b	3
Religion 121 and 122	4
Foreign Language 131, 132	6
Physical Education 111 and 112	2
Orientation 111 and 112	2
English 131, 132	6
Mathematics 141, 142	8

Pre-medical and Pre-dental students, and students who elect majors in Science or Physical Education are not required to take the Survey courses, but should register for Biology 137 or 241, or Chemistry 141. Students who fail in the placement examinations are required to take sub-freshman courses, English 100 instead of English 131, Mathematics 100 instead of Mathematics 141. In the case of Foreign Language a student who fails the placement examination is required to take Foreign Language 131. Students who pass in the test should register for Foreign Language 231. Mathematics 141 and 142 will be taken by students majoring in Science or Mathematics. Mathematics 145 and 146 is required of all other students who pass the placement examination in Mathematics.

Sophomore Year

In the sophomore year a student may, if he so desires, concentrate in a single department or field, or he may pursue studies in a wider range of interests.

By the end of the sophomore year students are expected to have completed all general courses prescribed for the degree.

The following courses are required in the sophomore year:

	S. Hrs.
Foreign Language 231 and 232	6
Religion 221 and 222	4
Physical Education 211 and 212	2
English 231 and 232	6
Speech 221a, 221b	2
Survey of Social Science 241a, 241b	4
*Psychology 231a, 231b	3

*All students except science majors are required to take this course in the Sophomore year. Science majors may elect it later.

The Senior College

In the Junior and Senior years the student will center his attention in his selected field of concentration. He must elect a minimum of 36 hours in one or two subjects in the Junior and Senior years. Subjects are arranged under five groups as follows:

I. The Humanities — English, French, German, Music, Philosophy, Religious Education, Spanish, Speech.

II. The Social Sciences—Economics, History, Political Science, Sociology.

III. Education and Psychology—Art, Education (Elementary and Secondary), Geography, Psychology.

IV. Mathematics and Sciences—Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics.

V. Health and Physical Education.

Students may concentrate in any one of the groups listed above and may major in the following subjects: Biology, English, French, Chemistry, Mathematics, History, Physical Education, Religious Education, Sociology, Economics, Psychology, and Elementary Education.

Students majoring in one natural science may count the combined credit in the remaining natural sciences (Biology, Physics or Chemistry), for a minor in Science. The requirements for a minor in a particular science will remain as outlined.

A maximum of 80 semester hours may be taken in one of the above groups and not more than 40 hours in any one subject.

PRE-VOCATIONAL COURSES

Opportunity is offered at Johnson C. Smith University to prepare for entrance to the best professional and vocational schools. In view of the fact that these institutions require college graduation for entrance, the faculty of Johnson C. Smith University does not encourage the shortening of the four-year course.

Medicine and Dentistry

Students preparing for a course in medicine or dentistry should take the equivalent of majors in Biology and Chemistry and minors in English, German or French, and Philosophy. A year's work in Physics is essential. The work in Biology should include Comparative Anatomy, Histology, Embryology, and Physiology, the work in Chemistry, Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis, and Organic Chemistry.

Law

Students who plan to enter law schools are advised to concentrate in Division II, and major in History or Economics and Sociology and to elect work in Political Science, English Literature, Philosophy, and Latin.

Business

A number of college graduates enter business life. The Department of Economics offers work which is basic to a business career. The student should also include Sociology, History, and Political Science in the course of study.

Theology

Preparation for the ministry and all forms of religious leadership demand thorough grounding in the arts and humanities. Hence a pre-theological course should include courses in English Composition and Literature, History, Economics, Religious Education, Sociology, Latin, Philosophy, (including Ethics), and Psychology, Principles of Education, at least one Laboratory Science, Biology, or Chemistry, and Mathematics.

Technical Profession

Students who are preparing for technical and engineering courses should concentrate in Division IV, and major in Mathematics and Physics.

Teaching

The North Carolina State Board of Education requires professional study for those who engage in teaching in the public schools of North Carolina. For information consult the Head of the Department of Education.

Prospective high school teachers usually prepare to teach two or three subjects. Their program should consist of courses in subjects which they are to teach, courses in the related subjects, professional courses, including special methods of teaching one subject, and supervised teaching. Students who plan to teach are further advised to study broadly in the social sciences in order that they may acquaint themselves with present-day social problems.

Agriculture

Students interested in agriculture should take a thorough training in Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. A general knowledge of these subjects is essential to a clear understanding of scientific farming.

Library Science

For general Library Science the most important subjects are Literature, History, Social Science, and Language, especially the modern languages. In these subjects the most essential subjects are: English, French, and German Literature; European, English, and American History; American Government; Political Economy; and at least a year of Science.

STUDENT LIFE

PERSONNEL SERVICES

As a part of the program of making well rounded individuals of the students who matriculate in the Institution, Johnson C. Smith University provides a program of personnel services. The purpose of this program is to enable the student to keep in good health mentally and physically, and to give him as far as possible sound educational, vocational, and personal guidance.

The Dean of Men and the Dean of Women exercise supervision over the dormitory life of the students. These are assisted by a staff of workers and student monitors who see that order and decorum are maintained in the halls at all times. Freshman and sophomore students are assigned to Faculty members as advisors. Junior and senior students consult the heads of the departments in which they are majoring on problems which are of concern to them.

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICE

The health of students in the University is given special consideration. All students are required to undergo a thorough physical examination by the college physician before registration each semester. Any student may be required to undergo additional physical examination according to the judgment of the college physician, and any student may secure other physical examinations on conference with the college physician. The physician will give such advice regarding exercise, athletic games, personal habits, etc., based on his examination, as he deems proper.

A medical fee, collected from all students, entitles them to free treatment for ordinary cases of sickness or accident. The student must purchase all medicines, and in case of injury or accident, all bandages or appliances other than those of an inexpensive nature. Consultation with, or treatment by, physicians other than the college physician, is at the expense of the student. In case of sudden need, with no time to notify parents, the college will call in expert assistance if it is considered in the interest of the student. Unless the parents agree to be responsible for the expense entailed they must notify the authorities when a student enters that this must not be done.

The student is advised to consult the college physician freely on matters pertaining to his health. Report of sickness as excuse for inattention to duty will not be accepted unless certified to in the report of the college physician.

In order to fulfill the requirements for the S.B. and A.B. degrees, respectively, all Freshmen and Sophomores will be required to attend courses in Physical Education. Those who are designated by the college physician as possessing organic and orthopedic defects will be assigned to special classes by the instructor in charge.

EXTENSION SERVICE

This service aims to meet the needs of persons who desire to further their education but are not in residence at the institution. All credit for extension work applied toward the requirements for graduation from the College will be subject to the rules and regulations of the College.

PLACEMENT SERVICE

The College operates a Placement Bureau, the purpose of which is to aid recent graduates and Alumni in locating teaching positions. No charge is made to graduates for this service.

VETERANS' COUNSELLING AND ADVISORY SERVICE

Johnson C. Smith University is one of the institutions approved by the Veterans Administration to provide training for the veterans of World War II under Public Law No. 16 and Public Law No. 346 of the Congress of the United States.

Under Public Law No. 16 the Administrator of Veterans' affairs is authorized to provide vocational rehabilitation for discharged soldiers with disability incurred in service, who need vocational rehabilitation to overcome this handicap. These provisions apply in the case of all persons discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

Training for disabled veterans under Public Law No. 16 may extend as long as four years with the full support of the Government together with a minimum subsistence allowance of $115 a month with additional allowances for dependents.

Public Law No. 346, or the so called G. I. Bill of Rights gives every veteran the right to one year of education or its equivalent in part time study. If these courses are completed satisfactorily the veteran is entitled to additional education or training not to exceed the length of time served in active service after September 16, 1940 and before the end of the present war. No course of education or training shall exceed four years. Eligibility requirements are as follows:

(1) Release from service under conditions other than dishonorable.

(2) Ninety days active service or prior release from active service because of disability incurred in service.

(3) Education must start not later than four years after discharge or end of war (whichever is later).

The Veterans' Administration will pay the educational or training institution the customary cost of tuition and other fees and may pay for books, supplies, equipment and such other necessary expenses exclusive of board, lodging, other living expenses and travel. Such payments shall not exceed $500 in an ordinary school year. It will also pay subsistence allowance of $65 a month for single men or $90 a month for men with one or more dependents.

For the purpose of facilitating the admission of veterans to the University and for the further purpose of counseling them, there has been established on the campus a Veterans Committee. This committee also provides systematic advice to veterans on personal problems.

Veterans seeking admission to Johnson C. Smith University should apply in advance to the Registrar of the University in keeping with the admission requirements as outlined elsewhere in this catalogue.

RESIDENCE HALLS

The University maintains four dormitories for students, two for men, Carter Hall and the Johnson C. Smith Memorial Theological Hall, and two for women, Berry Hall and the James B. Duke Hall. As far as dormitory accommodations will permit, all women students whose parents do not live in Charlotte are required to live in the dormitories unless special arrangements have been made through the Dean of Women to live elsewhere.

It is very important that former students make arrangements for room accommodations for the following year. This may be done by making a deposit of ten dollars in the office of the Business Manager on or before June 15.

Rooms in the University dormitories for men and women are furnished with all the necessary furniture, but each student is required to furnish personal towels, doilies, and bed linen. It is suggested that window curtains or drapes be purchased by the student after his or her arrival. The student should provide bed linen for use on single beds and the following list is a suggested minimum:

Three (3) pillow cases
Four (4) sheets
Two (2) blankets
Two (2) bed spreads

Each piece of linen should be plainly marked with the student's first initials and last name. The name may be woven or may be written in indelible ink.

ATHLETICS

Athletic sports are permitted and encouraged within certain prescribed limits, chiefly for the following reasons: first, they provide wholesome recreation; second, they give healthful exercise in the open air. Growing youth naturally seek recreation of some kind. This recreation should be something radically different from their sedentary habits of study, and should contribute directly to their well-being. The faculty maintains supervision of the athletics in order that it may be assured that the various sports are conducted on a high and clean basis, and that they are not indulged in to the extent that their studies or duties are neglected.

The Board of Athletic Control, under whose direction games of baseball, football, basketball, boxing, and tennis are played, is a member of the North Carolina Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association, and the Colored Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association, organizations that have done much to establish and maintain high standards in athletics.

Students who take part in athletics and other major extra curricular activities must maintain a satisfactory standard in their classes at all times. Students reported doing unsatisfactory work in any one subject automatically become ineligible to participate in intercollegiate sports.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

The University maintains several literary societies and other clubs, which, through exercises, debates, contests and dramas, provide a training of very great importance to the students. These societies are governed by laws enacted by their members, and are presided over by officers elected by their members.

Alpha Kappa Sigma is a chapter of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society. It is for those students who have attained high scholastic honors in their academic work. The purpose of the society is to promote high scholarship, to encourage sincere endeavor in all fields of knowledge and service, to cultivate a high order of personal living; and to develop an appreciation for scholarly work and scholarly endeavor in others.

To be eligible for active membership in a chapter, a student shall be registered and in good standing in the school at which the chapter is located. He shall be of junior or senior classification and shall have earned a minimum of sixty semester hours or ninety quarter hours of credit toward a degree. His scholarship standing in terms of the grade or honor point average shall be not less than 2.3, expressed under the system A equals 3; B equals 2; C equals 1; D equals 0.

This average shall be computed by dividing the number of grade or honor points by the number of credit hours. Thus, a three credit course will yield nine grade points if the grade is A. For a person who pursued only this course the grade average would be the number of grade points (9) divided by the number of credit hours (3) or 3.0.

Transfer students shall be in residence for two (2) semesters or three (3) quarters with a minimum of thirty semester hours or forty-five quarter hours credit toward a degree earned during this period, to become eligible. Their grade-point average shall be computed for their entire college career to date.

Beta Kappa Chi honor society is composed of honor students majoring in science. The society has as its objective the development of interest in science and research. In addition, prominent men of science are presented to the student body. Membership is open to the following:

Undergraduates working toward a College degree who have completed twenty-five (25) semester hours or equivalent in Mathematics or Science (Biology, Chemistry, Physics or Astronomy). Such a candidate must have a science average of "B" and a general average of "C" or better.

Undergraduates working toward a College degree who have completed forty (40) semester hours or its equivalent of Mathematics or Science with a "C" average having a grade of "B" or above in thirty (30) hours of their science and are recommended by two faculty members as being worthy of the single honor.

Delti Phi Delta, an intercollegiate honorary journalistic society, is represented by Gamma Chapter on the campus. Its major purpose is to stimulate the art and science of journalism among young Negro college men and women in America.

The Knowledge Expansion Club is an organization designed to: (a) curb the alarming increase in one-sided college students; (b) enable students to become better acquainted with world events; (c) create a better understanding among college students, and (d) foster the abilities of persons to speak fluently before the public. Membership is open to all interested students.

Rho Omicron Sigma (the Smith Debaters' Club), is composed of undergraduate members, its purpose being to foster debate and to develop ready speakers.

The Ira Aldridge Dramatic Guild is composed of members of the College of Liberal Arts. This organization, which is under the supervision of the Department of Speech, is doing a splendid work, and presents periodically a series of plays.

The Student Council is an organization, composed of student representatives, based on the belief of faculty and students that there are "educational, social, and moral values in student participation and self-direction" and on the desire of students "to develop and maintain high ideals of conduct, to co-operate effectively with the administration and faculty in upholding high standards of citizenship and scholarship in the University."

The Student Christian Association is the volunteer religious organization including all college students. Membership is also open to any theological students and any others of the school family who may be interested in its program. It maintains active relations with the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., Student Christian Associations, and youth programs of the church. The Student Christian Association is affiliated with the College Department of Religious Education.

The English Philological Society aims to instill the love of good literature among the members of the student body, and to exercise the critical faculties of English students in the understanding and evaluation of literary productions. Full membership is open to all students who are majoring or minoring in English. The fortnightly meetings are devoted largely to reports of studies and discussions.

Le Cercle Francias meets periodically during the academic year. Discussions and reports are all conducted in French. All students who are taking either a major or a minor in French, as well as students registered for advanced courses, are required to attend.

The Mathematics Club, as its primary function, fosters interest in higher mathematics and related topics. Activities consist of papers, reports of investigations, open discussions, field projects and group problems. Membership is open to students who have had one year of Mathematics. Meetings are held fortnightly.

The History Club is an organization which exists for the purpose of promoting reports, discussions and debates primarily on current topics of historical significance and importance. Those who attend are urged to avail themselves of books, newspapers and periodicals which will help them to gain an intelligent understanding and appreciation of present international affairs. Membership is open both to students who are majors or minors in history and to students who, although neither majors nor minors in history, yet have such interest in the study of world problems that they feel disposed to join. Meetings are held on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month.

The Students Activities Committee is composed of the presidents of the various student organizations. It serves as a co-ordinator of all student activities and directs the Annual Spring Forum.

The Chemistry Club is composed of students who have shown especial interest and ability, and are majoring or minoring in chemistry. The purpose of the club is to foster an interest in chemistry, in research, and to arrange scientific lectures.

The Sociological Society is a chapter of the American Sociological Society. Membership is open to advanced students in Sociology and other persons who plan research work in the social sciences. Meetings are held fortnightly.

Social Fraternities and Sororities: The following social Fraternities and sororities have chapters at the University: Omega Psi Phi, Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, Phi Beta Sigma, Delta Sigma Theta, Alpha Kappa Alpha and Zeta Phi Beta.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Such rules and regulations as have been found useful in the conduct of life on the campus and in the college community are to be found in the Student Manual, a book compiled by the faculty and published by the University.

Courses of Instruction

SYSTEM OF COURSE NUMBERS

The first digit indicates the sequence of the course, the second digit the number of credit hours, and the third indicates the semester. Odd numbers indicate Winter semester and even numbers Spring semester.

Courses beginning with 1 are intended primarily for Freshmen, 2 for Sophomores, 3 for Juniors, and 4 for Seniors.

For example: English 131 is open to Freshmen, carries three hours credit and is offered in the Winter semester. English 336 is intended primarily for Juniors, carries three hours credit and is offered in the Spring semester.

A course numbered 231a or 231b denotes that the same course is offered in both semesters, a for the Winter semester, and b for the Spring semester.

DEPARTMENT OF ART

321a-321b Fundamentals of Drawing for Primary and Grammar Grades.—Students preparing to teach will be taught the principles fundamental to successful drawing for elementary classroom purposes. Credit 2 semester hours. Offered both semesters.

322. Art and Art Crafts for Primary and Grammar Grades. The main purpose of this course is to teach certain skills which will facilitate the work in the elementary school. Color, design, perspective, representation, illustration, and picture study will be considered. A laboratory fee of $2.00 is required to be paid by each student registering for this course. Credit 2 semester hours.

323a-323b. Industrial Art.—This course is designed for students who plan to teach in the elementary school. Application of art in the teaching of related subjects will be made. Credit 2 semester hours. Offered both semesters.

426. Art Appreciation.—This course is offered for the purpose of developing in the student the sense of appreciation for the beauty of architecture, painting, sculpture, pottery, and textiles. Credit 2 semester hours. Offered in summer session only.

DEPARTMENT OF BIOLOGY

A major in this department consists of 24 semester hours of Biology, 14 semester hours of Chemistry (including Inorganic and Organic Chemistry), and 8 semester hours of General Physics.

137-138. General Botany.—A general survey of the plant kingdom. Principles of the various fields of Biology, such as morphology, physiology, taxonomy and genetics are discussed. One three-hour laboratory and two lecture periods each week. Credit 6 semester hours.

241. Invertebrate Zoology. — A comparative study of the invertebrate animals from Protozoa through the Arthropoda. Two lectures and two two-hour laboratory or fieldtrip periods each week. Prerequisite: Survey of Biology 131 or General Zoology. Credit 4 semester hours.

242. Vertebrate Zoology.—A comparative study of the various vertebrate types. Two lectures and two two-hour laboratory periods each week. Prerequisite: Biology 241 or General Zoology. Credit 4 semester hours.

342. Mammalian Morphology.—A detailed study of the gross anatomy of mammals with especial emphasis on the dissection of the cat in the laboratory. Prerequisite: Biology 241-242. Credit 4 semester hours.

333. Genetics.—A study of the causes of the variation and the mechanism of heredity. Mendelian analysis and problems of heredity are taken up in detail. Three two-hour periods each week. Prerequisites: Biology 137, 138, or 241 and 242. Credit 3 semester hours.

335. An Introduction to Entomology.—A study of the identification, classification and life histories of insects. One three-hour laboratory and two lecture periods each week. Prerequisites: Survey of Biology 131. Credit 3 semester hours.

336. Physiology.—A study of the physico-chemical processes of organisms. The important functions of the nervous, circulatory, digestive, respiratory, glandular, and muscular systems are discussed. One three-hour laboratory and two lecture periods each week. Prerequisites: Biology 241-242. It is recommended that a student should have a knowledge of General Chemistry for this course. Credit 3 semester hours.

337. Bacteriology.—An introduction to the study of bacteria with especial emphasis on their relations to man. Two lectures and one three-hour laboratory period each week. Prerequisites: Survey of Biology 131 or General Botany. Credit 3 semester hours.

431. Micrology and Histology.—Instruction in the technique of preparing tissues for microscopic observation, and the examination and detailed study of various tissues. Three two-hour periods each week. Prerequisites: Biology 241, 242. Credit 3 semester hours.

432. Embryology.— A study of developmental processes in animals with special reference to the chick, pig, and man. One three-hour laboratory and two lecture periods each week. Prerequisites: Biology 241 242, and 431. Credit 3 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

The courses in Chemistry are arranged to enable students to obtain a general knowledge of Chemistry; to equip those who plan to teach; and to give a basic foundation for those who plan to enter medicine, the industrial field or advanced work.

1. A major in Chemistry consists of 26 semester hours.

2. Students majoring in Chemistry are required to earn 8 semester hours in Physics and elect Mathematics 143-144.

3. Chemistry majors are strongly advised to minor in Mathematics.

141-142. General Chemistry.—The fundamental principles of Chemistry. Two lectures and two two-hour laboratory periods each week throughout the year. Credit 8 semester hours.

Chem. 231-232. Analytical Chemistry. The earlier part of the first semester will be devoted to Qualitative Analysis; the remaining portion of the course to Quantitative Analysis. Simple substances will be analyzed by methods which illustrate typical gravimetric and volumetric procedures. Credit 6 semester hours.

331-332. Organic Chemistry.—The general principles of Organic Chemistry as illustrated by the preparation and study of typical representatives of the aliphatic and aromatic series. Prerequisite: Chemistry 142. Credit 6 semester hours.

333. An Introduction to Theoretical Chemistry. In this course the fundamental principles of Chemistry are considered on a plane intermediate between Analytical Chemistry and formal Physical Chemistry. Lectures and discussions three hours a week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 231 or consent of the instructor. Credit 3 semester hours.

341. Organic Chemistry.—A short course in organic chemistry for pre-medical, pre-dental and home economics students. Prerequisite: Chemistry 142. Credit 4 semester hours.

425. History of Chemistry and Development of Chemical Theory.—Lectures, assigned readings and written reports. Prerequisite: The fundamental courses in chemistry. Credit 2 semester hours.

431-432. Elementary Physical Chemistry.—The priniciples of chemistry and physics as applied to gases, liquids, solids and solutions, including thermochemistry, chemical equilibria, electromotive force, etc. Prerequisites: Chemistry 232 and 332. Credit 6 semester hours.

435. Organic Analytical Chemistry. The qualitative and quantitative analysis of simple organic compounds. Credit 3 semester hours. Prerequisites: Chemistry 232 and 332.

436. Biochemistry. A study of the chemical processes in the animal body. Prerequisites: Chemistry 232 and 332. Credit 3 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

Requirement for major: Twenty-four semester hours. Economics 231 is prequisite for other courses in the Department. Eighteen of the twenty-four hours should be taken in the Junior and Senior years. Minor: Sixteen semester hours.

Recommended courses in other fields: Sociology 231, Political Science 231, Philosophy 334, Psychology 431, and Mathematics 235.

During the Senior year, students who major are expected to supplement the regular course work assignments with a project and special reference readings.

231. Principles.—Description and analysis of production, exchange, value and price, money and credit, and distribution. Credit 3 semester hours.

232. Problems.—Continuation of 231. Business cycles, taxation, international trade, war-time adjustments, and public policy. Credit 3 semester hours.

235a-235b. Mathematics of Finance.—(See page 70.)

325. Economic Development of Europe.—Readings and discussions of the more important economic ideas and institutions from early to modern times. Credit 2 semester hours.

326. Economic Development of the United States.—Evolution of trade and commerce, manufacturing, banking institutions and other corporations; agriculture, labor movement, and recent changes because of World War I and World Wide War II. Credit 2 semester hours.

333. Labor Economics.—Modern industrial employment and the wage system. Industrial unrest, unions and employers' associations, collective bargaining. Labor and governmental restraints in the war period. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. Legislation Labor and Social Security.—Government and the labor contract. Types of social security measures: plans for freedom from want, unemployment, old age and survivors insurance. Proposed post-war plans. Credit 3 semester hours.

421. Money and Credit—Standards of value, credit instruments, problems of a stabilized price level. Proposed international reforms; Keynes and White proposals. Credit 2 semester hours.

422. Banking.—Continuation of 321. Types of banking institutions and how they function. Federal Reserve System. Governmental regulation and policies. Credit 2 semester hours.

423-424. Statistics.—Methods in tabulating and charting, sampling, uses of averages and measurements of dispersion, probability and error, index numbers, time series, correlation. Year course, offered 1944-1945, and alternate years. Credit 4 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The Department of Education consists of the following fields: Elementary Education, Secondary Education, and In-Service Education (Extension).

Students may secure a major in elementary education leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree, in that field. This Department does not offer a major in Secondary Education as its purpose is (1) primarily to prepare teachers for the secondary schools of North Carolina and (2) to introduce students to the study of the school as a social institution.

Students who do not plan to teach are advised to spend their time in other fields.

111. Freshman Orientation.—The History, organization, and traditions of Johnson C. Smith University. The aims and methods of study, health talks and the use of the Library. Required of first year students. First semester. Credit 1 semester hour.

112. Occupations.—A study of the various vocations. Such tests and analysis as will aid in discovering basic characteristics and qualities are given. Persons prominent in the different fields of business and other professions give lectures on the vocations and discuss with groups of students the vocations in which they have special interest. Required of Freshmen. Second semester. Credit 1 semester hour.

311-312. Scout Master Leadership Course.—A course preparing men for boy leadership. An improved certificate will be issued at the completion of the course by the National Council of Boy Scouts of America. Two hours a week. Credit 1 semester hour.

Secondary Education

231. Introduction to Education.—This course is designed to introduce the student to the field of education, to show the present-day organization, aims, tendencies, and problems of education. Credit 3 semester hours.

331a-331b. Educational Psychology.—A systematic study of the facts and principles of Educational Psychology and their applications to the teaching and guidance of learners. Credit 3 semester hours.

333. Guidance in the Secondary School.—A study of the problem of guidance in the secondary school, and of principles and practices available for use in guiding students in connection with their educational, social, vocational, and recreational problems. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. Principles and Problems of Secondary Education.—This course gives the methods and principles of instruction in high schools. The aims, values and functions of high schools subjects. The nature of the pupil, the means and materials available for educational purposes. Prerequisite: Education 331a or 331b. Credit 3 semester hours.

335. High School Teaching Methods.—This course treats of principles and methods of learning and teaching high school subjects. The student is given opportunity to observe the teaching of the various subjects in the city high schools. Credit 3 semester hours.

337a-337b. Educational Sociology.—A study of school community interaction: community problems and their educational implications; possible procedures for effecting cooperation between the school and other community social agencies; the teacher as a community worker. Credit 3 semester hours.

433a-433b. Observation and Practice Teaching.—This course is open to Seniors only. By arrangement with the Public School System of Charlotte, students may observe and practice teaching under actual school conditions. Students taking this course should allow for at least two morning hours between nine and twelve, or two afternoon hours between twelve and three a week for entire semester. A laboratory fee of $10.00 is required for this course. Credit 3 semester hours.

435a-435b. Tests and Measurements.—The making of tests, scoring examinations, source of test material will be emphasized. Simple statistical methods useful for class and examination purposes will be presented. Required of all students in the field of education. Credit 3 semester hours.

Special Method Courses in Secondary Education

Ed. 328. Materials and Methods in High School History and Social Studies.—Purposes; materials; methods of presentation; methods of testing and evaluating results. Credit 2 semester hours.

420. Materials and Methods in High School French.—This course deals with the theories and methods of teaching Modern Languages in High Schools. Emphasis is put on the grading of papers, framing of examination questions, the use of realias and phonographs. Prerequisite: French 131-132, French 231-232, 12 semester hours in the Senior College Division, with an average of C or better. Credit 2 semester hours.

422. Materials and Methods in Physical Education.—See Department of Physical Education.

424. Materials and Methods in High School Mathematics.—This course presents the aims, methods and mode for teaching secondary mathematics. Some content work is also treated by various methods. All students who are planning to teach mathematics are required to take this course. No credit toward a major in mathematics. Credit 2 semester hours.

426. Materials and Methods in High School Bible.—See Dept. of Religious Education.

428a. Materials and Methods in General Science.—In this course the student is taught the methods of presentation, aims and materials for teaching the subject. The development of the unit in teaching is given much study. Observation of pupils in the city high school is considered a part of the program. Prerequisite: 16 hours of science. Credit 2 semester hours.

428b. Materials and Methods in High School Biology.—Lectures, Laboratory Demonstrations, and Reports, two hours each week. High School Teaching methods are discussed. No credit is given towards a Biology Major. Prerequisites: Biology 131-132 and Biology 232 and 3 additional semester hours. Credit 2 semester hours.

428c. Materials and Methods in High School Chemistry.—A critical discussion of methods for the lecture and laboratory presentation of the subject for high school teaching. Prerequisite: 8 semester hours of College Chemistry. Credit 2 semester hours.

429. Materials and Methods in High School English.—A critical discussion of the aims and methods of High School English, e. g., literature and composition. Lectures, reports, demonstrations. Prerequisite: 9 hours of English in the Senior College Division. Credit 2 semester hours.

Elementary Education

E324. Teaching of Elementary Science.—In this course emphasis will be placed upon the content called for in the State Course of Study. Topics treated will be: the aim and place of elementary science in the public school; relation of this subject to other subjects in the curriculum and the methods of teaching elementary science. Credit 2 semester hours.

E326. Classroom Management.—This course is designed to prepare teachers to do effective and economical work in the classroom. The modern methods of control and supervision are given to the student. Credit 2 hours.

E333. Teaching of Primary Arithmetic.—The development of the number concept in the primary grades, the place of drills, projects, games, and the value of the standard test will be discussed. Credit 2 semester hours.

E335. Reading in the Elementary School.—Methods of teaching Reading will be discussed. Studies in reading and reports on the scientific methods in reading will be a part of the program of each student. Students will be required to observe in one of the city elementary schools. Credit 3 semester hours.

E336. Language Materials and Methods.—The aims and objectives of oral and written composition will be discussed in the light of pupil activities and experience. Language methods in the grammar grades will receive comprehensive treatment. Credit 3 semester hours.

E337. Social Studies for Grammar Grades.—In this course the materials in Geography and History will be properly organized for teaching these subjects in the elementary school. Special emphasis will be given to unit teaching in the social studies. Credit 3 semester hours.

E338. Teaching of Grammar Grade Arithmetic.—This course will organize the content material and methods of instruction so commonly used in the teaching of arithmetic in the elementary school. Credit 3 semester hours.

E339. Social Studies for Primary Grades.—In dealing with the problems related to the teaching of the social studies in the first three grades of the elementary school, this course will give consideration to the function of social studies in an integrated program. Credit 3 semester hours.

E433. Principles of Elementary School Teaching.—In this course the principles of teaching in the elementary school will be treated thoroughly. Its history, aims, organization and functions. The curriculum and general methods employed in the present day elementary school will be taught. Credit 3 hours.

E435. Directed Observations and Participation.—This course is intended to give the student an opportunity to observe in the elementary school and to become acquainted with the actual problems and techniques of teaching. The student will participate in the testing programs, remedial work, group teaching, etc. Credit 3 semester hours.

E436. Practice Teaching in Elementary School.—This course is open to Seniors only. The practice work will be done in the City Elementary Schools. A laboratory fee of $15.00 is charged for this course. Ample time should be provided in the student's schedule for this work. Credit 3 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

Prerequisites for an English Major or Minor

A student who plans to concentrate in English should pass English 131-132, English 231 and English 232 or English 233-234, with distinction. The student should also have completed satisfactorily two years of French or German.

Programs of Study

At the present time, the College of Liberal Arts is prepared to offer double majors or major-minor combinations in English and French or in English and History.

In the Department of English the major program covers twenty-four semester hours of English in the Senior College Division and the minor program demands a minimum of fifteen semester hours. The required courses for minors are as follows: English 331, Shakespeare; English 332, Neo-Classical Literature; English 335, Introduction to the English Language; English 431, American Literature Before 1870; English 432, American Literature After 1870. English 434, Conference Study of the Participation of Negroes in American Literary History, while not required for minors, is recommended. For majors the following courses are required: English 331, Shakespeare; English 332, Neo-Classical Literature; English 335, Introduction to the English Language; English 431, American Literature Before 1870. English 432, American Literature After 1870; English 434, Conference Study of the Participation of Negroes in American Literary History; and either English 435-436, The Romantic Movement, or English 437-438, Victorian Literature. In addition, the English major is expected to elect courses in foreign literature, the history of philosophy, English or American history and Speech, particularly Speech 225, Fundamentals of Speech. Other courses to be elected at the pleasure of the student are in art and music appreciation, sociology and science.

100a-100b. Remedial English. Training in the fundamentals of grammar and composition. Attention is given to the improvement of the reading ability of the students. Groups and sections will be arranged for individualised remedial instruction. Required of students who fail in the preliminary placement examination in English. Open also to upperclass students at their own request. Three hours a week throughout the year. No credit.

131a, 132a, 131b, 132b. Freshman Composition. — Written composition with emphasis upon the form of exposition. The long theme, personal and investigative. Oral compositions, assigned readings, and conferences. Throughout the year. Credit 6 semester hours.

231-232. Introduction to English Literature. Study in the Master writers: Chaucer, Shakespeare, Addison and Steele, Wordsworth, Browning, some of the major poets of the twentieth century, selected nineteenth century essayists, Hardy's The Return of the Native. The work of the student is frequently presented in writing. No student succeeds in this course who cannot express his ideas clearly and correctly. Required of Sophomores. Prerequisite: English 131-132. Throughout the year. Credit 6 semester hours.

233-234. World Literature.—A survey of some of the greatest literary masterpieces of the world from Homer to the present time. Juniors and Seniors who elect this course are required to perform additional reading assignments. Credit three semester hours each semester.

235-236. Children's Literature.—The purpose of this course is to point out the types of literature suitable for primary and grammar grades. A knowledge of how to present this literature is considered of vital importance. The classification of types of literature, story telling and practice in presenting material will constitute the major part of the course. Credit 3 semester hours each semester.

331. Shakespeare.—The study of some of Shakespeare's representative plays, with consideration of Shakespeare's literary and social milieu and the development of his dramatic craftsmanship. Prerequisite: English 232 or English 234, or the consent of the instructor. Credit three semester hours.

335. Introduction to The English Language.—An introduction to the study of the historical development of the English language, including the elements of phonetics. Credit three semester hours.

431. American Literature from Colonial Times to 1870.—A study of the main currents of American literature from the beginnings to 1870. Prerequisite: English 332 or the consent of the instructor. Credit three semester hours.

432. American Literature from 1870 to the Present.—A study of the modern tendencies in late nineteenth century and contemporary American literature, including the essay, novel, biography, drama, and poetry. Prerequisite: English 431 or the consent of the instructor. Credit three semester hours.

434. Conference Study of the Participation of Negroes in American Literary History.—Prerequisite: English 431 and the consent of the instructor. Open to Juniors and Seniors. Credit three semester hours.

435-436. The Romantic Movement.—A study of the poetry and prose works of the writers of the Romantic Movement and the philosophical, social, and aesthetic thought which they reflect. Prerequisite: English 332 and Philosophy 333-334. Credit three semester hours each semester. (Not offered 1944-1945).

437-438. Victorian Literature.—A study of representative literature of the Victorian Age as art and as a reflection of the main currents of the philosophical, scientific, social, and æsthetic thought of the period. Prerequisite: English 437 or the consent of the instructor. Credit three semester hours. Offered 1944-1945.

DEPARTMENT OF FRENCH

A major in French shall consist of eighteen semester hours beyond the Sophomore year or a total of thirty semester hours. A minor in French shall consist of fifteen semester hours beyond the Freshman year or a total of twenty-one semester hours.

The following courses are required: French 331-2, 333-4; 433-4; English 231-2; History 231; Philosophy 333. It is recommended that the student should have one year of German, History 235 and Philosophy 221.

131a-131b. Elementary French.—Primary object: to enable the student to understand French, written and spoken. Reading accompanies the grammatical analysis of the language and the study of the regular and common irregular verbs. The foundation of the correct pronunciation is laid through the presentation of the elementary phonetic facts. Credit 3 semester hours.

132a-132b. Elementary French.—Primary object: to enable the student to reproduce easy French, written or spoken. Further practice in pronunciation with reading and phonetic tests. Dictation, Questionnaires, vocabulary drill, and sentence expansion. Prerequisite: French 131. Credit 3 semester hours.

231. Intermediate French.—Continued stress on pronunciation and the understanding of the spoken French. French Grammar Review, dictation, and memorization. Resume and short themes in French. Prerequisite: 2 units of high school French or French 131-132. Credit 3 semester hours.

232. Intermediate French.—French composition. Written themes based on the reading and individual projects. Special study of idioms and tense uses. Prerequisite: French 231. Credit 3 semester hours.

331. Survey of French Civilization to 1715.—A general survey of French civilization from the beginnings to 1715, with the major illustrative readings. Instruction in French. Prerequisite: credit for a major from 232. Credit 3 semester hours.

332. Survey of French Civilization, 1715-1900.—A general survey of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, with illustrative readings. Instruction in French. Prerequisite French 331. Credit 3 semester hours.

333. Practical French Composition. — Principes, generaux, exercises pratiques de composition francaise. Explications orales de textes de differents auteurs: Prerequisite: French 232. Instruction in French. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. Oral French.—Careful reading of more difficult modern texts with increased attention to their character as literature. Continued study of idioms. Oral practice. Prerequisite: French 333 or its equivalent. Instruction in French. Credit 3 semester hours.

431. French Literature of the 18th Century.—Study of Tragedies, Comedies, and Dramas of the period. For French majors only. Course in French. Credit 3 semester hours.

432. French Literature of the 19th Century.—In this course will be studied the most important romantic and realistic dramas. For French majors only. Course conducted in French. Credit 3 semester hours.

433. French Literature of the 17th Century.—In this course are studied the masterpieces of the 17th Century. The works of Corneille, Racine, Moliere, and Lafontaine. For French majors only. The course is conducted in French. Credit 3 semester hours.

434. Advanced Studies in French Conversation, Composition, and Oral Practice.—For French majors only. The course is conducted in French. Credit 3 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY

231. Principles of Geography.—The course lays the foundation for the later study of all geography—such topics as weather, climate, temperature, winds, rainfall, and the application of these principles to the distribution of population and industries will be studied. Credit 3 semester hours.

232. Geography of North America.—In this course, emphasis is placed upon the United States, with some consideration of Canada, Alaska, and Mexico. Credit 3 semester hours.

339. Nature Study.—This course is designed for both the primary and grammar grades. Consideration will be given to content and methods. The student will become acquainted with outdoor life. Insects, birds, animals, trees, and flowers will be studied. Credit 3 semester hours.

331. Geology.—An introductory course in Physical Geology with incidental reference to historical relations. Earth materials and processes. Lectures and recitations three hours a week. Credit 3 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF GERMAN

131. Elementary German.—Primary object: to enable the student to understand easy German, written and spoken. Pronunciation taught phonetically. Dictation, sentence mutation, and memory work as a basis for composition. Oral and aural drill. Credit 3 semester hours.

132. Elementary German.—Primary object: to enable the student to read intermediate texts with ease and to reproduce simple German orally and in writing. Continued analysis of the language, with review study. Memory work, imitation of type sentences, sentence manipulation and mutation. Prerequisite: German 131. Credit 3 semester hours.

231. Intermediate German.—Aim to enable the student to use German as a tool-subject. Practice in writing and speaking simple German. Grammar review. Vocabulary building. Free and formal composition. Oral and written reports, partly in German. Prerequisite: 2 units of High School German. Credit 2 semester hours.

232. Intermediate German.—Reading course in modern (mainly nineteenth century) prose with especial emphasis on vocabulary study, syntax, and oral reproduction of the text. Prerequisite: 2½ units of High School German or German 231. Credit 3 semester hours.

331-332. Composition and Conversation.—A course designed to widen the student's knowledge of written and spoken German.

333. Scientific German.—A course designed for those desiring to secure special work in scientific terminology. Prerequisite: German 232.

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

The satisfactory completion of Social Science 241 Contemporary Civilization, is required before a student may elect further studies in the Department of History. A major in history consists of twenty-four semester hours in the Department of History. The following courses are required for a major: History 231: History of Mediœval Europe; History 232:History of Modern Europe; History 235-236:History of the United States or History 333-334: History of England; History 331: Ancient History—The Near East and Greece; History 332: Ancient History—Rome; and History 426:Principles of Historical Research. Majors also are required to elect in either the sophomore or junior year Political Science 231: American Government; and either Economics 231: Principles of Economics, or Sociology 231: Principles of Sociology.

A minor in history consists of twelve semester hours in the Department of History in addition to the satisfactory completion of Social Science 241.

231. History of Medieval Europe.—A study of Europe from the fall of the Roman Empire in the West through the Hundred Years' War. Attention is given to the barbarian invasions and kingdoms, the development of the church, feudalism, the Renaissance, the medieval foundation of modern national states. Credit 3 semester hours.

232. History of Modern Europe.—A study of Europe from the Protestant Revolution through the World War.

Attention is given to the period of religious strife, the age of the absolute monarch, colonial expansion and conflict, the Industrial Revolution, the French Revolution and Napoleon, nineteenth and twentieth century imperialism, and the World War.

235. History of the United States to 1850.—This course deals primarily with the history of the United States from European backgrounds to 1850. Due consideration, however, is given the institutional, economic, and social life of the English colonies, also the revolutionary movement, and the formation of the United States. Source readings. Credit 3 semester hours.

236. The History of the United States From 1850 to the Present Time.—This course will begin with a more intensive study of the conflicting interests of the North and the South. It will analyze the compromise measures intended to prevent the impending conflict. Intensive attention will be given to the Civil War and the period immediately following, to the Reconstruction Period, to its effect upon the whole country and especially upon the Negro. Credit 3 semester hours.

323. Hispanic America. The growth of the Latin-American Republics and their relation to one another and to the outside world. Attention will be given to their institutions and social conditions and the development of the revolutionary spirit. For Juniors and Seniors. Credit 2 semester hours.

328. The Negro in American History.—This course will aim to connect with the movements in our history such factors as slavery, abolition, colonization, and compromises leading up to the conflict of the North and South. It will also treat the status of the free Negro, the program of the Civil War, the Reconstruction, efforts at racial adjustment, and the struggle of the Negro for social justice. Credit 2 semester hours.

331. Ancient History—The Near East and Greece.—A study of the civilizations of the ancient Near East from earliest times through the Persian Empire. Also a study of the history of Greece from earliest times through the Hellenistic Age. Attention is given to the period of the Persian invasion, to the periods of Athenian, Spartan, Theban and Macedonian supremacy, and the achievements of Alexander the Great. Attention is given also to the ideals and contributions of the Greeks. For juniors and seniors. Credit 3 semester hours.

332. Ancient History—Rome.—A study of Rome from earliest times to the fall of the Empire in the West. Attention is given to constitutional development, to expansion in the Mediterranean world, to social, economic and intellectual life and to Christianity in the Empire, and to the underlying causes of the fall of the Empire in the West. For juniors and seniors. Credit 3 semester hours.

333. History of England to 1603.—From period preceding the Anglo-Saxon invasions to end of the Elizabethan time. Evolution of England to position of a modern world power. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. History of England from 1603 through the Period of the Industrial Revolution.—Rise of the middle classes, development of a "democratic" commonwealth, and early years of the Victorian period. Credit 3 semester hours.

426. Principles of Historical Research.—A study of the method of gathering and criticising historical data, and of developing historical composition from it. Attention is given to the use of sources and of supplementary material, to methods of research, and to the technique of historical composition. For juniors and seniors. Credit 2 semester hours.

431. Europe Since 1870.—A study of Europe from the Franco-Prussian War and the unifications of Germany and of Italy to the present. Attention is given to imperialism, commercial and military rivalry, and problems of nationality and democracy leading up to the World War; also to the operations of the World War, to the peace treaties, and to the post-war problems which have come as a result of the conflicting interests of the communist, facist, and liberal democratic states. For juniors and seniors. Prerequisite: History 232, History of Modern Europe. First semester. Credit 3 semester hours.

433-434. Research in Negro Problems.—A study of certain problems that are encountered by Negroes who live in the United States. Consent of the instructor required. Credit 2 to 4 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

The purpose of the courses here outlined is to prepare the following three groups of students: first, those who wish to major in mathematics; second, those majoring in science, economics, social and educational statistics wherein a mathematical background is essential for advanced work; and, third, those who desire to study mathematics for its cultural value.

A major in Mathematics consists of at least 24 semester hours. A minor in Mathematics consists of at least 15 semester hours.

100a-100b. Remedial Mathematics. — This course is designed to meet the needs of students who show a definite deficiency in the Mathematics Placement Test. Training is given in the fundamental operations, fractions, decimals, percentage, interest, mensuration, solution of simple equations, principles of substitution, making and interpretation of graphs. No credit.

141a-141b. College Algebra.—A course beginning with a complete treatment of elementary topics and continuing with advanced topics such as progressions, mathematical induction, complex numbers, theory of equations, probability, determinants, and partial fractions. Credit 4 semester hours.

142a-142b. Plane Trigonometry.—This course will cover the following topics: trigonometric functions of angles, solution of triangles, measurement of angles, function of multiple angles, logarithms, inverse functions, complex numbers, DeMoivre's theorem. Credit 4 semester hours.

143-144. Introduction to College Mathematics.—This is strictly a service course designed to meet the needs of those who desire a background of college mathematics for the physical and natural sciences and statistics. This is a year course. Credit 4 semester hours each semester.

145-146. General Mathematics. This course is designed to give the essential mathematical background for all college students. Mathematical thought processes and the cultural side of mathematics will be stressed along with the fundamental operations and applications. This course is recommended to those planning to take only one year of college mathematics. Four times a week. Credit 4 semester hours each semester.

231. Plane Analytic Geometry.—This course will begin with a survey of more important formulas of plane geometry and trigonometry. The following topics will be covered thoroughly: Cartesian co-ordinates, the straight line, the circle, transcendental, curves, parabola, elipse, hyperbola, tangents, parametric equations, and loci. Prerequisite: Mathematics 141-142. Credit 3 semester hours.

232a-232b. Differential Calculus.—The course begins with the topic variables and functions, and is followed by a discussion of the theory of limits. The elementary principles of differentiation are taken, as well as their rules. The following make up the remaining portion of this course: simple differentiation of trigonometric functions, differentials, curvature, partial differentiation. Prerequisites: Mathematics 141-142-231 or Mathematics 143-144. Credit 3 semester hours.

235a-235b. Mathematics of Finance.—This course deals with the basic principles and problems of finance such as interest, annuities, bond valuations, amortization of debts. Also there is a brief discussion of the elementary mathematical principles underlying life annuities and life insurance. Credit 3 semester hours.

331a-331b. Integral Calculus.—This is a continuation of Mathematics 232, and the following topics are treated zealously: The rules of integration, the definite integral, integration of rational fractions, integration by substitution, parts, and partial integration. Prerequisite: Mathematics 232. Credit 3 semester hours.

332. Theory of Equations.—This course is open to advanced students of mathematics. A study will be made of: complex numbers, cubic and quartic equations, graph of equations, determinants, construction with ruler and compasses, isolation of roots, solution of numerical equations. Credit 3 semester hours.

333. Solid Analytic Geometry.—This course is a continuation of Mathematics 231. The work includes an intensive study of Cartesian co-ordinates in space, the plane and straight line in space, special surfaces (sphere, cylinder, and cone), transformation of co-ordinates, equations of the second degree in three variables, forms, classification, and properties of quadric surfaces, tetrahedral co-ordinates. Prerequisite: Mathematics 144 or 231. Credit 3 semester hours.

421. History of Mathematics.—This course is offered primarily that prospective teachers of mathematics may have a thoroughly rich background. A study of the personality and works of "Men Who Made Mathematics" will be given, also the historical development of all elementary branches, including Calculus. Credit 2 semester hours.

422. Surveying.—This is a brief course in farm surveying designed to give the student a practical knowledge of the fundamentals of the subject. It consists of resurveys, calculation of areas, and establishing corners. Maps of surveys are made upon which points of practical interest are plotted.

431. Differential Equations.—This course aims to meet the needs of students who wish to study engineering, advanced physics or a major in pure mathematics. The course will cover: formation of differential equations, equations of the first order and the first degree, singular solutions, applications to geometric mechanics and physics, linear equations, exact and particular forms, equations of the second order. Prerequisite: Mathematics 331. Credit 3 semester hours.

442. Advanced Calculus.—A lecture and problem course including power series, partial differentiation, implicit functions, applications to geometry, definite integral gamma and beta functions, line, surface and space integrals. Prerequisite: Mathematics 331. Credit 4 semester hours.

446. Modern Geometry.—This course is offered to those students who intend to become mathematics teachers, or take up Physics or Engineering. Only those who have shown special adaptation for the subject in the elementary field are encouraged to select this course. Credit 4 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

Requirements for a Minor in Music

Students presenting a minor in Applied Music must present a minimum of nineteen semester hours for graduation. All students who intend to enroll as music minors will be given a placement examination in Voice and Piano, at the beginning of the term. Students must present eight hours credit in Applied Music for a minor in music. Voice students must present four hours credit in Piano for graduation.

111-112. Church and Choral Music.—This course presents choral music of the best type in performances of the highest possible standard. Members are chosen by examination. Appearance at various College and Church functions throughout the year is required of those taking the course. Credit 2 semester hours.

221. Appreciation.—An introduction to the appreciation of music designed as a cultural course to acquaint students with the minor factors involved in intelligent listening and the importance of the art as a whole. Special attention will be given to musical form, and the distinctive style of each composer. Credit 2 semester hours.

222. Advanced Appreciation.—A study of musical form, and the distinctive style of each composer. Structural and æsthetic analysis of the smaller forms, the sonata, the fugue, and the symphony. Prerequisite: Music 221. Credit 2 semester hours.

321. Sight Singing and Ear Training.—This course gives systematic training in the fundamentals of music theory, sight singing and ear training, stressing the elementary problems in pitch and rhythm. Individual work is required in both sight singing and ear training. Credit 2 semester hours.

323. History of Music.—A general survey of the development of music from primitive sources to the present day; the development of notation, church music, instruments and instrumental music, the opera and the nineteenth century romanticist. Credit 2 semester hours.

325-326. Harmony.—First semester: study of chord formations, simple modulations, suspensions, secondary seventh chords, the dominant ninth, and its inversions. Second semester: the study of figured basses, chromatic alterations, modulations by means of altered chords, song-forms, and original work. Prerequisites: Music 221, 222. Credit 2 semester hours each semester.

332. Public School Music.—The place, aim, and general method of school music, as based upon social educational, and æsthetic principles. Materials and methods throughout the school system with reference to voice, ear, notation, appreciation, and instrumental study. The folk song and the art song will be studied. Teaching in the simplest form, yet involving pedagogy, psychology, and principles of teaching all applied to music in a manner that will be of daily use to the teacher. Published materials will be examined in class. Credit 3 semester hours.

421. Counterpoint.—Free and strict counterpoint carried through two- and three-part writing in all species, with one moving part. Analysis. Prerequisites: Music 221, 222, 325-326. Credit two semester hours.

Pianoforte.—A technical training designed to meet the individual needs of the student is required; particular attention is given to the development of the æsthetic sense and artistic interpretation.

Singing.—The study of singing is designed to develop a smooth and resonant tone, control in signing, correct use of the breath, phrasing, and enunciation. Particular attention is given to the individual needs of the voice in an effort to further develop the technical ability and powers of interpretation of the student.

DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY

A major in Philosophy consists of 24 semester hours, including Philosophy 221, 332, 333 and 334. A minor in this field consists of 16 hours. Prerequisite for all courses, Psychology 231, which may, however be taken concurrently with Philosophy 221 and 233.

221. Deductive Logic.—This course is designed to give a student a knowledge of the traditional Aristotelian logic. Credit 2 semester hours.

222. Inductive Logic.—A course which treats of the inductive methods of Mill and their application to scientific problems. Prerequisite: Philosophy 221. Credit 2 semester hours.

231. Reasoning.—A course in the principles of reasoning designed to cover some of the problems common to the humanities, sciences and social studies in the search for reliable knowledge. Credit 3 semester hours.

233. Introduction to Philosophy.—The course in the introduction to philosophy attempts to give the beginning student some appreciation of the problems and methods of philosophy. The course is intended primarily for sophomores. Credit 3 semester hours.

234. History of Political and Social Philosophy.—A course designed for students interested in Political Science and Sociology. Previous work in Philosophy is not required. Credit 3 semester hours.

332. Ethics.—A study of the fundamental moral concepts in order to test their validity and source as a ground for human action. Credit 3 semester hours.

333. Ancient Philosophy.—An historical consideration of the most significant philosophical systems of antiquity. Chief emphasis will be placed upon the Greek personalities from Thales to the Neoplatonists. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. History of Modern Philosophy.—A continuation of Philosophy 333 but may be taken independently of it. An examination of the chief intellectual currents of Western thought which were influential in shaping modern concepts as well as consideration of the main personalities in philosophy Credit 3 semester hours.

335-336. Contemporary Philosophy.—Representative contemporary philosophers will be studied each man a different semester, in such a fashion that a major in the department may take the course for two years without duplication. (Both semesters.) Prerequisites: Philosophy 233, 333, or 334. Credit 6 semester hours.

422. Philosophical Classics.—In this course intensive study of some of the major works in philosophy will be offered, depending on the particular needs and interests of the class. Prerequisites: Written consent of the instructor, Philosophy 333, or 334. Credit 3 semester hours.

DIVISION OF HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Thirty (30) semester hours in the field of Physical Education are required for a major and (15) fifteen semester hours for a minor.

All students enrolled in Physical Education 111-112; 211, 212; and 322 are required to supply themselves with a regulation gymnasium uniform.

111—Personal Hygiene.

Scientific information on nutrition muscular exercise, sleep, bathing, reproduction, and the most advantageous utilization of time and energy. Lectures, class reports, discussions, and individual conferences will be held. Required of all Freshmen. Text required. Meets twice a week. Credit 1 semester hour.

112(M)

An activity course consisting of calisthenics, marching tactics, apparatus work, group games and indoor sports. In the Spring, fundamentals of track, baseball and tennis will be given. These activities are designed to improve bodily control and strength, to stimulate alertness and to establish habits of regular exercise. Required of all Freshmen. This course meets two periods a week during the second semester. Credit 1 semester hour.

112(W)

Freshman Physical Education for Women—An activity course consisting of gymnastics, marching tactics and fundamentals of dancing. In the spring archery, softball and soccer will be given. These activities are designed for the development of good posture, grace and to improve bodily strength. Required of all Freshman women. This course meets two periods a week during the second semester. Credit one (1) semester hour.

211-212 (M) Sophomore Physical Practice.

A continuation of the Freshman course with a more strenuous application of organized games. All Sophomores will be urged to participate in some form of intercollegiate sport. This course meets two periods a week. Required of all Sophomores throughout the year. Credit one semester hour each semester.

211-212 (W)—Sophomore Physical Education for Women.

A continuation of Physical Education 211 with more emphasis upon highly organized games. All sophomores will be encouraged to participate in some form of intramural activity. Class meets two periods a week. Required of all sophomores throughout the year. Credit one (1) semester hour each semester.

223—Dual and Single Games.

A presentation of teaching methods of activities in which one or two persons may participate. The following sports will be studied: Tennis, Archery, Badminton, Deck-tennis, Table tennis, Horseshoes and Handball. Credit two (2) semester hours.

226—Rhythms and Dances.

An activity course consisting of the fundamentals of dancing especially adapted for those who intend to teach rhythmical activities. Folk, gymnastic and modern dancing will be taught. Credit two (2) semester hours.

227-228. Fundamentals of Practice Teaching in Physical Education.

This course is for students who are interested in the teaching of physical activities. Individuals will be permitted to assist the instructors in conducting required practice courses. Instructors will hold regular conferences with students in addition to the class work. Students enrolled must be of Junior classification with men and women being under the guidance of the instructors in those respective departments. Credit 2 semester hours each semester.

231—First Aid and Massage.

Lectures and practice in standard first aid and massage techniques. Red Cross first aid methods are studied and participated in by all students. Massage procedures are analyzed as to physiological value and the fundamental methods are demonstrated and practiced. Credit 3 semester hours.

321—Principles of Physical Education.

Lecture course dealing with the underlying principles and meaning of Physical Education. A study will be made of the origin and development of Physical Education. The relationship of Physical Education to society and the recreational needs of man will be discussed. The guiding principles and objectives of a Modern Program of Physical Education will be evaluated. Credit two (2) semester hours.

323-324(W)—Seasonal Activities.

Practice in the fundamentals of major sports in their corresponding season. Methods of teaching and officiating in Speedball, Soccer, Basketball, Volleyball and Softball will be studied. Credit two (2) semester hours each semester.

323-324(M)—Seasonal Activities.

Basic physical skills of outdoor and indoor sports are practiced during their appropriate seasons. Football, soccer, six man football, speedball, basketball, and handball are the subjects of the first semester. Physical fitness activities plus seasonal athletics are given in the second semester. Credit 2 semester hours each semester.

325.—Gymnastics and Stunts.

Individuals will be taught the fundamental skills of gymnastics and stunts. Teaching methods will be demonstrated and practiced. Special emphasis will be given to exercises which are valuable in the development and improvement of bodily strength and control. Credit two (2) semester hours.

327.—Correctives.

An analysis of the theory and practice of the prevention and correction of postural defects. Therapeutic exercises and their relative value in correcting various defects will be studied. Credit two (2) semester hours.

331-332—Organization and Administration of Physical Education.

Lecture course considering the aims, objectives, content and techniques of Physical Education. Courses of study, lesson planning and the teaching of physical activities will be surveyed. Physical Education programs for the elementary school, secondary school and college will be studied. Health Education and Health Service will be discussed as to aims, objectives, and programs on the various school levels. Effective methods of teaching Health Education will be stressed. Credit 3 semester hours each semester.

333—Anatomy.

An elementary course in anatomy especially adapted to the needs of students preparing for a major in Physical Education. A study of the gross structures of the human anatomy will be made. Laboratory periods will be arranged. Credit three (3) semester hours.

334. Materials and Methods in the Teaching of Health Education.

A study of effective methods of teaching health education. Emphasis is placed upon having Health Education methods result in knowledge, attitudes, and habits that will contribute to healthful living. Integration, correlation and direct teaching are studied to determine their value in Health Education. Credit 3 semester hours.

Biology 336—Physiology.

Required for a major in Physical Education. For description see Biology division.

336—Kinesiology.

A lecture and laboratory course dealing with the origin insertion and action of muscles of the human anatomy. A study will be made of various physical education activities and an analysis of the mechanics of the muscle groups involved. Credit three (3) semester hours.

422. Materials and Methods in the Teaching of Physical Education.

An analysis of the various procedures used in the teaching of Physical Education. Especial attention is given to the application of methods to large groups and to the realization of the aims and objectives of various activities. The conducting of classes with adequate and inadequate facilities is studied. Credit 2 semester hours.

431-432—Athletic Coaching.

Particularly presented for those who intend to coach or who are especially interested in athletics. Emphasis will be placed upon the teaching of the fundamental skills, team strategy, organization, and psychology and coaching. Study will also be made of the history, rules and the officiating of the major sports. Both letcures and practice will be a part of the work. Credit 3 scmester hours each semester.

434—Public and School Hygiene.

A study of those subjects, concerned with the health of the people as a group, such as water, sewage, contagious diseases, immunology, etc. The health of the school child will also be considered as it relates to ventilation, heating, sanitation, lighting and similar pertinent topics.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS

A major in Physics consists of a minimum of 24 semester hours; a minor consists of a minimum of 15 semester hours.

241. General Physics—Mechanics, Heat, and Sound.—Lectures and recitations two hours a week. Laboratory four hours a week. Prerequisite: Trigonometry, or the consent of the instructor. Credit 4 semester hours.

242. General Physics.—Electricity and Magnetism, and Light. Lectures and recitations two hours a week. Laboratory four hours a week. Prerequisite: Physics 241. Credit 4 semester hours.

243. Advanced General Physics.—Selected topics in General Physics treated on a more advanced level than that in Physics 241 and 242. Lectures and discussions three hours a week. Prerequisite: Physics 242. Credit 3 semester hours.

244. Experimental Physics.—A laboratory course which consists of experiments selected from the general field of Physics. Laboratory six hours a week. General discussion one hour a week. Prerequisite: Physics 242. Credit 4 semester hours.

331. Heat.—A study of the principles and phenomena of heat effects and their measurement. Lectures and discussions three hours a week. Prerequisite: Physics 242. Credit 3 semester hours.

332. Heat.—A continuation of Physics 331. Applications are emphasized. Lectures and discussions three times a week. Prerequisite: Physics 331. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. Electricity and Megnetism.—A course in the theory of Electricity and Magnetism with applications to electrical and magnetic measurements. Lectures and discussions three hours a week. Prerequisite: Physics 142. Credit 3 semester hours.

431. An Introduction to Biophysics.—The principles of physics applied to topics in Biology and Medicine. Lectures and discussions three hours a week. Prerequisite: Physics 242. Credit 3 semester hours.

432. Light.—This course treats the principles of physical and geometrical optics more exhaustively than was possible in Physics 142. The rigorously mathematical classical developments will not be attempted. Lectures and discussions three hours a week. Prerequisite: Physics 242. Credit 3 semester hours.

433. An Introduction to Atomic Physics.—Elementary charged particles. Electromagnetic radiation. An elementary consideration of Bohr's theory in relation to atomic spectra. Introductory discussion of nuclear reactions. Lectures and discussions three hours a week. Prerequisites: Physics 242 and preferably 332 and 432. Credit 3 semester hours.

NOTE: While no mention is made of mathematics beyond Trigonometry for the courses listed, the student should acquire as much knowledge of this subject as possible. A knowledge of elementary Calculus is a very beneficial tool in the study of all science. Some of it will be used in these courses beyond Physics 241

Offerings will be chosen from the courses listed as the demand arises.

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

A major in Political Science requires 30 semester hours.

Political Science 231, 232, 337 and 338 are required. The following courses may be counted toward a major at the discretion of the head of the department: Economics 231 and 232, Philosophy 221, 222, and 233, History 236 and Sociology 233 and 434. A minor consists of Political Science 231 and 232 and 12 additional hours.

231. American Government.—The Constitution and its development. Analysis of legislative, executive and judicial branches of the Federal Government. War-time problems of government. Credit 3 semester hours.

232. Comparative Government.—A study of the governments of the leading states of Europe. Special attention is given to constitutions and procedure, relations of parliament and executive, proportional represestation. The problem of self-government. Credit 3 semester hours.

327. Principles of Public Administration.—The function of administrative agencies. General principles of organization, personnel practices, financial organization and procedure, responsibility and control. Current development in the United States. Credit 2 semester hours. Prerequisite 231.

331. American Political Parties.—A study of the American party machinery and how it works. Credit 2 semester hours.

332. State and Local Governments.—A survey of the organization and function of state and local governments. Special attention is given to constitutions and procedure, relations of parliament and executive, proportional representation. The problem of self-government. Credit 3 semester hours.

383. International Relations.—A study of the historical origin, structure, and functioning of the Western State System. Special attention is given to the legal principles generally recognized as binding upon States in the Society of Nations; to a description of the mechanism of modern diplomacy; to an analysis of the procedures and agencies for facilitating international intercourse and settling international disputes; an analysis of the causes and consequences of nationalism. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. Government and Politics of the Far East.—A study of government and politics in China, the Japanese Empire, India, The Philippines. Credit 3 semester hours.

335. American Constitutional Law.—Constitutional guarantees and government restrictions as interpreted by the Supreme Court. Special attention is given to racial discrimination. Credit 3 semester hours.

337-338. History and Political Theory.—A History of Political Thought from Plato to the present. Credit 6 semester hours.

441. Seminar.—An intensive study of one problem or a series of related problems. A final paper is required. Credit 4 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

A major in Psychology consists of twenty semester hours, including Psychology 321, 322, 325, 431, 432; Philosophy 333 and 334. A minor consists of twelve hours in Psychology.

The general aims are: (1) to give a knowledge of the characteristics of mental life and the laws governing psychic processes; (2) to give the student a knowledge of, and an appreciation for the attempts which have been made to solve the problems of existence; and (3) to encourage the student to apply his knowledge in interpreting our educational, political, moral, social, and religious problems.

231a-231b. General Psychology.—This course is designed to give a general survey of the main problems, principles and methods of psychology; to give the student a practical knowledge of the characteristics of mental life and the laws governing it; and to prepare him for advanced work in psychology and education. Both semesters. Credit 3 semester hours.

321. Child Psychology.—The purpose of this course is to give prospective teachers a practical knowledge of the physical and mental nature of school children. This course is based on a recognition of the child as a product of evolution, heredity, and environments. Special stress is laid on the significance of infancy and the characteristics which mark the various stages of growth of the child from infancy to maturity. An important place is given to the study of instincts and emotions, with reference to their nature, development, use, and expression. Observation and study of school children are a part of the work, thus making the child the actual basis of study. The course involves textbook work, lectures, collateral reading, and reports. Prerequisite: Psychology 231. Open to Sophomores and Juniors. Credit 2 semester hours.

322. The Psychology of Learning.—This course is designed to give the student a working knowledge of the psychological process involved in learning and habit formation. Special attention will be given to habit formation: types of learning, analysis of the laws of learning, the practical application of psychological principles in teaching subjects. Lectures, recitations, and laboratory work. Prerequisite: three credit hours in Psychology. Credit 2 semester hours.

325. Genetic Psychology.—A study of the growth of fundamental psychological processes from embryo to maturity, in the light of biology, comparative psychology, and child psychology. The course includes an intensive critical survey of experimental technique and reliability of results of the principal investigators. Prerequisite: Psychology 231. Credit 2 semester hours.

326. Individual Differences.—Variations in mental traits such as attention, free association, intelligence, and personality—from a biological, experimental, and statistical viewpoint. Credit 2 semester hours.

328. Comparative Psychology.—Animal behavior with emphasis on baturation, motivation, and learning in animals, particularly mammals. Credit 2 semester hours.

423-424. Fundamentals of Statistics.—Frequency distribution, measures of central tendency, measures of dispersion, probability curve, theory of curve fitting, correlation table and coefficients of correlation, regression. Prerequisite: Senior standing or permission of the instructor. Credit 2 semester hours.

431. Social Psychology.—Socialization viewed from the standpoint of the group and the individual member. Socialization of psychological functions. Conflict and adjustment. Prerequisite: Psychology 231. Credit 3 semester hours.

432. Abnormal Psychology.—A study of those conditions of mental unbalance of abnormality which are chiefly psychogenetic in origin: neurasthenia, psychasthenia, hysteria, multiple personality, dementia praecox, and paranoia. The theories of Adler, Freud, Janet, Jung, and McDougall are studied as explaining these various abnormalities. Prerequisite: Psychology 231. Second semester. Credit 3 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The aim of the department is to aid the student in gaining an understanding of the development of the Hebrew-Christian religion; an appreciation of its great religious and ethical insights; the function of religion in life and the techniques for making religion effective in meeting the personal and social problems of today. The department seeks to train lay leaders for Christian education, to prepare candidates for the ministry for the seminary and to orient the general student in religion. A major is offered to prepare students for teaching Bible in secondary and elementary schools, for parish workers in religious education and for various phases of lay leadership in the church.

A major in the department consists of 24 semester hours above the four hours of Bible required of freshmen. A minor consists of 15 semester hours above the four hours of Bible required of freshmen. Majors and minors must be selected in consultation with the professor of religious education. In cases where it would strengthen the student to do so, a maximum of 9 semester hours from other departments of the college may be counted as part of the major in religious education. A maximum of 5 such semester hours may be counted as part of a minor.

Eight hours of Bible are required of all students for graduation. These are normally courses 121, 122, 221, 222 and are usually taken in the freshmen and sophomore years. Exceptions in both the courses and the time of taking them may be made in consultation with the professor of religious education when these are warranted. Students who desire to do so may secure credit in leadership training from the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the International Council of Religious Education for courses taken in the department.

121. Early Hebrew Religion and the Problems of Life.—The development of Hebrew culture; moral and spiritual growth as seen in the early Old Testament literature; the early religion of the Hebrews and the problems of life today. Credit 2 semester hours.

122. Later Hebrew Religion and the Problems of Life.—Hebrew life and world culture; the growth of religion in the prophets, poets, and other Hebrew writers; the later religion of the Hebrews and the problems of life. Credit 2 semester hours.

221. The Life and Teaching of Jesus.—The world in which Christianity arose; the life and teaching of Jesus as seen in the New Testament literature; the Christian religion and the problems of today. Credit 2 semester hours.

222. Paul and the Christian Religion.—The Greco-Roman world and the life of Paul; the letters of Paul and their religious and ethical value for today; the religion of Paul and contemporary Christian living. Credit 2 semester hours.

321. Introduction to Religious Education.—Study of aims and objectives of religious education; survey of the principle agencies promoting the program; consideration of methods and problems in the field. Credit 2 semester hours.

325. The Art of Christian Leadership—Aims of Christian leadership; the function of the leader in the local church, classes, clubs, societies and various religious groups; attitude and qualifications of a Christian leader. Credit 2 semester hours.

323. The Family and the Church.—Study of the family as a social and religious agency; the co-operation of family and church in Christian education; methods and materials in the program of the local church. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

331. Youth and Religion.—A study of the characteristics and experience of adolescence; survey of its basic social and religious problems; consideration of ways in which the Christian religion may meet adolescent needs. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

332. Youth and the Church.—Survey and evaluation of the total youth program of the church; study and reconstruction of aims, agencies and methods; consideration of relationship to other youth programs. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of relgious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

333. The Church Through the Centuries.—The rise and growth of the Christian church; the development and contributions of its major divisions; the American church and its function in the life of today. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

334. The Purpose and Program of the Church.—Survey of the total program of the church; consideration of its basic aims; the function of the church in the life of the individual and society; the integration of the church program. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

335. Worship.—The role of worship in Christian living; the nature, methods and materials of private worship; aims, methods and materials of public worship. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

336. Materials and Methods in the Religious Education of Children.—Survey and evaluation of materials and methods in the Christian education of children; consideration of organization and administration of the children's program. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

337. The Prophets.—Consideration of the nature of prophecy and the early prophets; survey of the prophetic books of the Old Testament; the meaning of the prophets for the life of today. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

338. Poetic and Wisdom Literature of the Old Testament.—The role of the poet and the wiseman in religion; survey of the poetic and wisdom literature of the Old Testament; the value of this literature for the life of today. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

339. Later Books of the New Testament.—Survey of the later letters of the New Testament in the light of their backgrounds; consideration of their religious and ethical teaching; their values for Christian living today. Prerequisite: 4 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

421. Religious Education of the Adult.—Programs and materials in the Christian education of the adult by the church; the relation of the church program to general adult education; outlining a program for the local church, Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 2 semester hours.

422. Leadership in the Church.—Aims, principles, methods and agencies in training leaders for the Christian education program of the church; outlining a program for the local church. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

426. Materials and Methods in High School Bible.—Survey and evaluation of materials and methods in high school Bible; consideration of special teaching problems in this field; limited observation and practice. Prerequisite: 12 semester hours of religious education. Credit 2 semester hours.

431. Christianity and Social Problems.—The message of the Christian religion for the world of today; the Christian answer to the problems of race, war, industry and the family; the adequacy of Christianity as a universal religion. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 2 semester hours.

432. Problems in Religious Thought—Current problems in religious and ethical thinking; the contemporary world-view of religion; a Christian philosophy of life. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

433. Living Religions of the World—A survey of the major living religions; their ways of life and systems of thought; the function of religion in life. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

434. The Parish Program of the Church.—Types of parish programs; aims and principles of the parish; methods and materials in parish work. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

435. Psychology of Religion.—Psychological factors conditioning religious experience; types of religious behavior; principles of religious growth; the function of religion in the achievement of personality. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

436. Philosophy of Religion.—The nature of religion; the basic concepts in the religious world-view and their contemporary formulations; construction of a Christian philosophy of religion. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

437. The Growth of Christian Personality.—A study of personality development; Christian personality and factors in its achievement; implications for teaching religion and guidance in Christian living. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

438. The Use of the Bible in Teaching Religion.—Principles of using the Bible in religious education; survey of the Bible content for usable materials; practice and adaptations in use of printed materials in teaching the Christian religion. Prerequisite: 6 semester hours of religious education. Credit 3 semester hours.

439a-439b. Practicum.—Observation and practice teaching for prospective teachers of Bible; supervised field work for students preparing for parish work or other forms of lay leadership in religious education. Open to seniors. Credit 3 semester hours.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

A student who majors in the Department of Sociology must present twenty-four semester hours in the Department. Economics 231, and Psychology 231 are required.

The School of Theology

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Object of the Seminary

The objectives of the Seminary are to recruit for the ministry and lay service the most promising individuals of the church and instruct them in the knowledge of the Word of God, as contained in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, the only infallible rule of faith and life, and in the doctrine, order and institutes of worship taught in the Scriptures, a brief summary of which is set forth in the Constitution of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America; to instruct them in the essentials of practical life and living; and thus to equip them for meeting present and future problems as they may appear in the pastorate, in the fields of Home and Foreign Missions, and in teaching and directing the work of Christian Education.

Advantages

The students of the seminary have opportunity to become identified with the various religious clubs on the campus. They assist in the devotional services in the university chapel and the mid-week services in the university church.

The seminary is located in the largest Presbyterian center among Negroes in the world. Here are some of the largest churches. All highways and railroads leading out of Charlotte pass by one or more Presbyterian churches.

In these churches one may note the following:

1. Varied types of church programs, rural and urban, in action.
2. There is ample opportunity for practice preaching.

3. There are ample opportunities to work with and observe some of the finest and largest young people's organizations in our group.

4. Charlotte is located near the border line of North and South Carolina. This affords an opportunity for the students to study the religious, social, civic and economic problems of a border city. The seminary students have participated in surveys which have won the praise of the North Carolina Department of Education.

5. The campus is the Mecca for Presbyterians in the Southland. Here the largest gatherings are held. The Annual Workers' Conference held on the campus attracts a large group of ministers and lay workers every year. The Institute for Ministers and Church Workers sponsored by the university and the Board of National Missions meets for a period of ten days in June. These gatherings bring the seminary students in contact with the leaders in the Church and afford an opportunity for the students to study at first hand how the organizations of the Church operate.

Arrangements are made whereby every student in the seminary may engage in some phase of church work in and about Charlotte, teaching in Sunday schools, assisting in young people's work, conducting boys' clubs, or serving as student pastors.

Terms of Admission

The School of Theology is open to students of all Christian denominations. Requisites for admission to the Junior class are a credible Christian profession in connection with some evangelical church and graduation with the Bachelor of Arts degree or its equivalent from a standard four-year college or university.

Applicants for admission should present the following:

1. A letter of introduction to the President or the Dean of the School of Theology from some responsible person.
2. An official statement of church membership or connection with some ecclesiastical body.
3. An official transcript of scholastic record.

All applications should be addressed to the Registrar of the University.

Entrance Requirements for Special Students

In addition to the general requirements for admission to the Seminary, all persons desiring to matriculate as special students, with no intention of earning a degree, may do so by satisfying the Seminary faculty as to their intellectual fitness, also as to their Christian character and purpose for seeking entrance.

Advanced Standing

Students coming to this Seminary from other theological seminaries of equal standing, are given credit in keeping with the amount and grade of work completed. This information should be given by means of a transcript properly authenticated and forwarded to the University Registrar previous to the students' arrival.

Requirements For Graduation

The full course of the Seminary extends through three years and leads to the degree of Baehelor of Divinity. The Seminary year is divided into two semesters of eighteen weeks each. The degree of Bachelor of Divinity will be conferred upon the candidate, who, in addition to satisfying entrance requirements, maintains satisfactory records in his classes, completes a total of 105 semester hours with an average grade of not less than "C", and submits an acceptable thesis.

No candidate will be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Divinity who has not been a resident student during his Senior year.

PRE-SEMINARY CURRICULUM

As a foundation for his theological training a student should have a broad and comprehensive college education, commonly knows as a "liberal arts" course.

The American Association of Theological Schools has suggested a basal minimum in a pre-seminary curriculum as follows:

The beautiful cottage, which was the campus home of the late Mrs. Johnson C. Smith, was converted into a library for the theological students. The building consists of a general reading room, a study room for individual research, and a stack room. The library contains approximately 3,000 volumes of theological and allied works, and several journals and periodicals. In addition to the contents of this library the theological students have access to the college library, which has more than 26,000 volumes.

The Curriculum

The curriculum of the seminary aims first to prepare men for the active pastorate. A secondary purpose is to prepare leaders for other phases of church work. The curriculum for these lay workers will be enlarged in the future; but the primary job of the present one is to prepare ministers. This curriculum is tentative. The ultimate test of a theological curriulum is the effectiveness of the pastors produced by it. This test will be continually applied in future revisions. Each course will be modified as teaching experience and new conditions suggest improvements.

Considerable emphasis is placed upon English Bible. It is recognized that a more thorough knowledge of the content of the Bible and a greater skill in the functional use of this content are needed by the minister today. The study of the Bible in the orginal languages is not eliminated, but the greater emphasis is placed upon English Bible. Large emphasis is also plaeed upon practical theology in order to improve the efficiency of the working minister and church. Supervised field work counts for credit on the bachelor of divinity degree, this credit being eleven semester hours.

Courses are grouped into three departments: Biblical literature, history and theology, and practical theology. When convenient, symbols are used to designate courses in these three fields, B.L. for Biblical literature, H.T. for history and theology, and P.T. for practical theology. Thus B.L.524 means "Biblical literature 524. The Life and Letters of Paul." Courses are numbered to represent three levels of work. All courses in the 500 range are required for the bachelor of divinity degree and are normally taken by the student as early as possible in his course of study. Two courses in the 600 range are also required for the bachelor of divinity degree. These are P.T.651 and 662 supervised field work. Courses in the 600 range are generally elective and are on a higher level than the 500 courses. Courses in the 700 range are on an advanced level and are normally taken by students who are majoring in the departments in which the courses appear. Each candidate for the bachelor of divinity degree will select in consultation with an adviser a major in one of the three departments. He will also write a thesis in the field of his major under faculty supervision.

The bachelor of divinity degree requires the completion of 105 semester hours of work distributed as follows:

54 semester hours required, 18 in each of the three departments.

10 semester hours of Hebrew and Greek, required of all candidates for the bachelor of divinity degree. These do not count as part of the 18 hours required in Biblical literature.

11 semester hours for supervised field work.

24 semester hours in the field of the student's major beyond the 18 hours required in that field.

4 semester hours elective in addition to the major elected.

2 semester hours for research. These hours are given for the preparation for and writing of a bachelor of divinity thesis.
